

DELECTANDO MONEO

EMBLEMS,

for the

Entertainment and Improvement of Youth:

CONTAINING

Hieroglyphical and Enigmatical Devices, relating to all Parts and Stations of Life;

TOGETHER

with Explanations and Proverbs,

in French, Spaniſh, Italian, and Latin,

alluding to them,

and Tranſlated into Engliſh:

The Whole curiously Engrav'd on 62 Copper Plates.

Sold by R. WARE at the Bible and Sun in Warwick Lane at Amen Corner

I.

A Ship at Sea, that comes full Sail into Port. Spes Proxima. Her Desire nigh accomplish'd.

2. A Man in a Chariot drawn by two ions. Etiam ferocissimos domari. A Wife an may tame the most furious and unvernable.

3. An Elephant. In me mea spes omnis y Hope is in myself.

4. A Warrior and the Picture of Justice nem nihil, duos plurimum posse. One can nothing of himself, but both together y do any thing.

5. A Lion attack'd by several little Anals. Temerium. It represents Rashß.

6. Hercules sitting with his usual Arms, l attack'd by a Child with a Sword. meritas. 'Tis a rash Insult.

7. A Sun-Flower beholding the Sun. n inferiora sequutus. I seek not after ngs beneath me.

8. An old Man laid down and looking at the Stars. Desidia. Sloth.

9. An Elephant. Par viribus virtus. I have Courage equal to my Strength.

10. A lean Woman with Thorn about her Head, and Snakes in her Hand. Invidia. Envy.

11. A Goat suck'd by a young Wolf. Sibi damna parab. She nourishes her own Ruin.

12. Narcissus admiring himself in a Fountain. Philautia. Self-Love.

13. Several Birds flying to a Cherry-Tree loaded with Fruit. Parasiti. They are Parasites.

14. A Satyr sitting at the side of a Wood, Luxuria. Lust.

15. A Wolf that would devour a Colt, but quits him to go for a Sheep, which he misses. Oblivio paupertatis parens. To forget one's Business is the Way to be Poor.

II.

1. A Mountain with Trees upon it, and the Sun above it. Si ſerenus illuxerit. If that is favourable we flouriſh.

2. A lopp'd Tree that ſhoots out again. Proſpiciente Deo. By the Grace of God.

3. A White-Thorn with a Rainbow above it. Virtus hinc major. Its Smell is more agreeable after a Shower.

4. A Mountain on which there grows a Laurel and a Palm-Tree. Arduæ Virtutem. The Road to Virtue is difficult.

5. An Olive-Tree, the Branches of which are cut off. Tanto uberius. I ſhall ſprout again.

6. A Cypreſs-Tree with ſome Caterpillars beneath it. Nil mihi vobiſcum eſt. You have no Buſineſs with me.

7. A Palm-Tree on the ſide of a River, the Sun over it. Haud aliter. I thrive no other way.

8. A Fig-Tree with Fruit. Mitte non vomitte. Give thy Fruits without Promiſes.

9. A Willow. Neglecta juventus Untaught Youth.

10. A Myrrhe-Tree, the Trunk of which is cut in ſeveral places. Concuſſa uberior. More fruitful for its Wounds.

11. An Oak with a Bunch of Miſletoe. Rara juvant. Things that are ſcare are pleaſing.

12. An Apple-Tree extravagantly loaded with Fruit, and ſome of the Branches broken. Me Copia perdit. My Abundance deſtroys me.

13. An Olive-Tree. Nec incidi, nec evelli. I ſhall neither be cut down, nor pluck'd up.

14. A Mulberry-Tree. Cunctando proficit. My Leaves are late, but my Fruit early

15 A cleft Oak, the Branches of which divide one part from the other, tied together with Offers. Ne rumpere. A ſmall matter timely apply'd will prevent great Miſchiefs.

III.

1. A Serpent hid in the Graſs. Vigilate timentes. There's a Snake in the Graſs.

2. A Sheaf of Corn. E parvis, grandis acervus. Many Ears make a Sheaf.

3. An Herb call'd Houſleek, like an Artichoak tranſplanted to the top of a Houſe. Vita tamen ſuper eſt. It ſtill lives, tho' it is no longer in the Earth.

4. An Herb call'd Marjoram, and a Hog ſmelling to it, but does not like the Scent. Non tibi ſpiro. I'm not for your Noſe.

5. A Plant which produces Calebaces with Veſſels full of Water, and the Calebaces inclining to them. Nullo docente Magiſtro. They do it naturally.

6. A Truſs of Hay. Hoc omnis caro. All Fleſh is Graſs.

7. A Tuberoſe. Diverſi omnes. All ſhort-liv'd. So is Beauty.

8. A Crown of Laurel, another of Oak, and a third of Palm, link'd together. His Ornari aut mori. We muſt be crown'd with them, or die and be forgotten.

9. A Plant from which the Seeds fall again to the Ground. Spes altera vitæ. We ought to hope for a ſecond Life.

10. An Elephant in the Water, looking at the Sun. Pura placet pietas. Pure Piety pleaſes God.

11. A Rhinoceros rubbing his Horn againſt a Rock. Non revertar inultus. You ſhall be puniſh'd by it.

12. An Elephant playing with a Lamb. Manſuetis Grandia cedunt. The moſt Exalted ſtoop to the Humble.

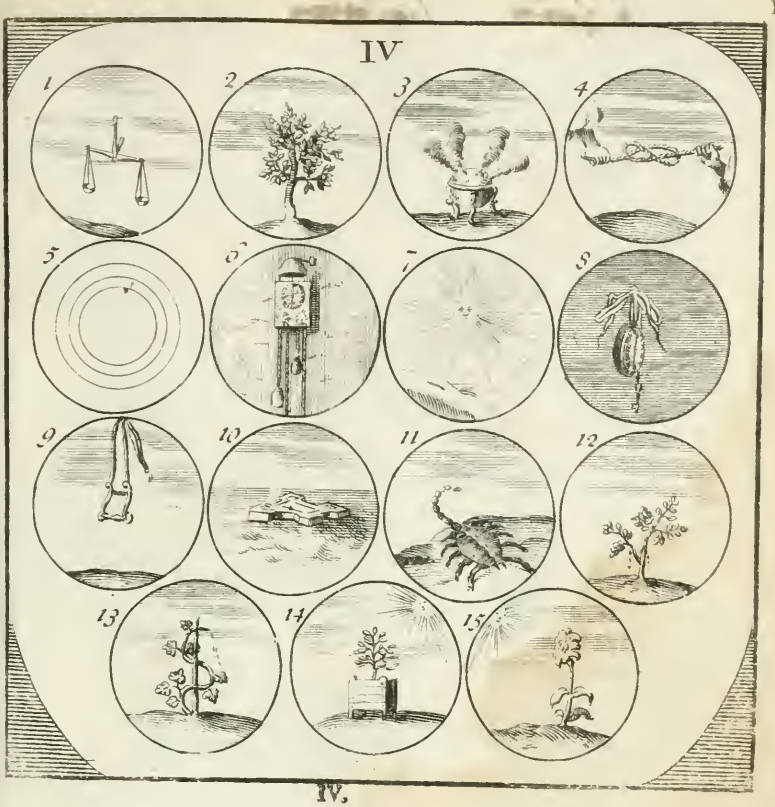
13 A Rhinoceros killing a Bear with his Horn. Vim ſuſcitat ira. Anger renews my Strength.

14. A Lion with a Snake round his Neck. Nil decentius. Nothing is better coupled than Prudence and Courage.

15. A Camel that ſtirs the River with his Foot where he would drink. Turbata delectat. It pleaſes me to drink in troubled Water.



IV.

1. A Pair of Scales, one of which subsides. Piega onde piu riceve. It inclines to the side that is fullest.

2. A Chesnut-Tree with the Fruit upon it. Velentur mollia duris. Its sweetness is cover'd with a hard Skin.

3. A Pot of Incense burning. Dum placeam peream. I am consum'd by giving Pleasure.

4. Two Hands straining a Cord with a Knot by the two Ends. They tie it in parting from one another.

5. Several Circles one within another, all drawn from the same Center. Minimus intimus. The least is nearest the Heart.

6. A Clock with Weights. Ex pondere motus. Its Motion is from the Weight.

7. A Sun. Non sibi, sed Mundo. He shines not for himself, but for the whole Universe.

8. A Watch. Motions arcanis. It moves with secret Motions.

9. A Bridle. Regit & corrigit. It governs and corrects.

10. A Citadel in the middle of the Waters. Me combaten y me defienden. They buffet me and defend me.

11. A Scorpion. Morte medetur. It cures the Wound it makes, by its own Death.

12. A Tree distilling Balm, by some Incision made in it. Vulneror ut sanem. I am wounded to cure others.

13. A Vine Weeping. Post Lachrymas Fructus. After Tears come the Fruit.

14 An Orange-Tree in its Box, and the Sun above it. Privi dite morir. Without you I die.

15. A Sun-Flower and its Sun. Non mai ingrata. I am never ungrateful.

V.

1. A Lighted Flambeau, which ſets fire to another. Sin perdida de ſu Luz. It loſes none of its Light.

2. A Hand Armed with an Iron Gauntlet. Col Senno, & col la mano. There ought to be Judgment, as well as Strength.

3. An Arrow ſhot into the Air. O ſubir, ó baiar. Either to riſe or fall.

4. A Harp without accord, no Harmony. Majora Minoribus conſonant. There is an Union between the great and the little Strings.

5. A Bee-Hive. Nulli patet. The Secret is not diſcovered to any one.

6. A Hawk hooded. Feſt tenebras ſpero lucem. I hope I ſhall enjoy the Light.

7. A Load Stone, that draws a Sword to it. Volenter trahamur. I am drawn Voluntarily.

8. A dead Lion that the Flies are eating. Merces belli. Behold what is got by War.

9. A Lute upon a Book of Muſick. Verum fœdus. True Alliance.

10. An Owl. Prudens magis, quam loquax. Diſcretion is more than Eloquence.

11. An Olive-Tree ſupporting a Vine. Non conveniunt. We do not agree. 'Tis in vain to unite us.

12. A Chariot drawn by two Lions. Ferociſſimi domantur. The fierceſt may be tamed.

13. A Tomb upon which there ſits an Eagle Signa fortium. The ſign of Valour.

14. A Bird in a Trap to take others. Dolus in ſuos. To betray his own kind.

15. A Stork drinking, or taking the ſalt Water. Sibi parentibusque ſalutaris. She cures herſelf and her Young Ones.

VI.

4. An Eagle mounting the Air with a Wren. Non uſitata vehor. I am not uſed to go ſo high.

2. A Moon in the midſt of the Stars. Una piu che mille. One Moon is more to me than a thouſand.

3. A Cammel fallen under its Burthen. Nil ultra vires. Nothing ſhould be undertaken beyond one's Strength.

4. A Stag wounded with an Arrow. Hinc dolor inde fuga. My Pain cauſes my Flight.

5. A Boar on the Ground with a Knife in his Throat. Haud aliter prodeſt. He brings no profit but by his Death.

6. An Eagle carrying a Stone to its Neſt. In tempore munit. She fortified it againſt Time of Need.

7. A Hog among Flowers. Non bene conveniunt. They do not ſuit well.

8. A Wolf flying, and the Sun riſing above him. Hoc oriente fugio. I fly when that appears.

9. A Fox liſtning on a River that he is paſſing over. Fide & diffide. I do not confide in it, nor wholly diſtruſt it.

10. An Eagle carrying its Prey and beholding the Sky. Dum detonet imber. It is my Proviſion for the worſt Times.

11 A Moon and a Dog barking beneath it. Deſpicit alta feras. Her Station makes her deſpiſe Fools.

12. A Hound having a Hare under its Feet Gloria ſivis. He conſiders only the Glory. Or Victory.

13. A Rabbit on the Edge of its Burrough. Vigilandum. 'Tis good to watch.

14. An Aſs ſtung by a Fly. Et parvis ſua vis. The leaſt Thing may be troubleſome.

15. An Eagle that hides herſelf in the Clouds. Non captu facilis. It is not eaſy to take me.

Chamberlin

VII.

1. A Stork drinking and taking the Sea Water. Sic homines edocuit. She taught this Medicine to Men.

2. Two Brids on a Bunch of Grapes. Impar duobus. It is too little for two.

3. A Mouse in a Trap. Rapaces perire juvat. It is just that Gluttons should be destroyed.

4. A Hawk that points and falls on a Partridg. Quæ supra nihil ad nos. We must content our selves with what is destin'd for us.

5. A Gourd, or Calebass on the Top of a Fir-Tree, with its Stalk the length of the Tree. Brevis honos. Its Elevation shall be of short coutinuance.

6. A Serpent taking a Bird in its Nest upon a Tree. Generosis nil impervium. The Courageous go any where.

7. A Dog barking at the Moon. Inanis impetus. His endeavours are vain.

8. Two Pots, one of Iron, the other of Earth, and near one another. Periculosa societas. This Neighbourhood is dangerous.

9. A Dolphin flung upon Land by the Flux of the Sea. Mea me perdunt. I perish by that which ought to preserve me.

10. A Raven holding a Scorpion in his Bill, that Stings him in the Throat. Ultio justa. 'Tis a just Revenge.

11. A Sphinx. Respondere quis poterit? Who can answer him?

12. A Fox holding the Head of the Statue of a Man. Cerebrum non habet. Tho' this Head is very fair, yet it has no Brains.

13. A Cypress-Tree. Pulchra sed sterilis. 'Tis beautiful, but 'tis barren.

14. An Oaken Crown. Civilis pretium amoris. It is bestowed for the Love of the Citizens.

15. A Harp twisted about with Ivy. Cum Bacchomelius. It suits Bacchus.

VIII.

1. A Box-Tree to which is faſtened a Flute. Qui poteſt cantare vireſcit. They that can ſing live long.

2. A Mulbery-Tree. Tarde ſed tandem. I flouriſh late, but nevertheleſs I do flouriſh.

3. A Laurel-Tree. Paucis aſſequuntur. There are but few deſerve me.

4. A Dog removing the Straw upon which he would lye. In promptu ſternere non eſt. It is not eaſy to make me lye down.

5. A Scythe. Aciem virtus refundit. Its virtue takes off its Edge.

6. An Hercules Club. Quot Monſtra ſubegit? What Monſters does Virtue ſubdue?

7. A Stag flying that is wounded with an Arrow. Non effugiet. His Flight will not ſave him.

8. A Flambeau lighted and turned down. Quo lucet perit. That which feeds it deſtroys it.

9. A Pot boiling on the Fire. Ambo conſumimur. We conſume each other.

10. A Salamander in a large Fire. Mors aliis, ſed vita mihi. I live where others periſh.

11. A Stag in the Water. Solatium non auxilium. This is a Delight, but no Security for me.

12. A Level. Neither here, nor there.

13. A Truſs of Straw on Fire. Non diu. It will not laſt long.

14. A Trunk of a Tree with a Graft upon it. Vivitur ingenio. Ingenuity ſupports it.

15. The Head of a Janus upon a Cube. Sapientia conſtans. Wiſdom is not to be ſhaken.

IX.

1. The Tables of the Law, and a Sword upon them. Lex regit arma tuentur. The Law governs, but the Sword preſerves us.

2. An Owl. In Nocte conſilium. The Night gives Counſel.

3. A Snail creeping on a ſmall Branch of a Tree. Lentè ſed attentè. I go ſlowly, but with caution.

4. A Bear attacking ſome Bees, that ſting him. Patior ut potiar. I endure their ſtings that I may have their Honey.

5. A Tree cut and thrown down. Non uno ictu. It was not done by one ſtroke.

6. A Tree that a Hand is p'anting. Poſteritati. It is for my Heirs.

7. Two Brands croſſed and lighted. Flammeſcit uterque. They burn one another.

8. An Oſtrich with its Wings ſpread. Nil penna, ſed uſus. Though I have Wings, I cannot fly.

9. A Butterfly, that burns itſelf in a lighted Candle. Pizcer conduce a morte. Pleaſure kills me.

10. An Hour-Glaſs. Paulatim, non impetu. By little and little, Violence does nothing.

11. A Field of Corn ready to be reap'd. De parvis erit acervus. From ſmall parts there ſhall be a great Heap.

12. A Tortoiſe. Omnia mea mecum porto. I carry all my Eſtate about me.

13. A Cock upon a Trumpet. Pacis & armorum vigilia. One ſhould watch in Peace and War.

14. A Knot in a Cord. Virtute ſolvitur. Virtue unties it.

15. A Roſe blown, and a Beetle in the inſide of it. Turpibus exitium. Good things hurt ill ones.

X.

1. A Cock upon a Lawrel Tree. Undique tutus. I am secure on every side.

2. A Lawrel-Tree having the great Branches lop'd off, and only one left at the Top. Triumphali è stipite Surgens. I shoot from a Trunk used to Triumphs.

3. A Lemmon-Tree with its Fruits on. Solum à sole. I should be nothing without the Sun.

4. A Dove sitting on a dry Branch. Nec dum cessat amor. My Love continues after Death.

5. A Vine that is no longer fastned to its Prop. Opis indiga. It wants a Support.

6. Two Branches of Mulberry Tree and Lawrel set on Fire in the middle, where they join. Vim ex Vi. Rage encreases Rage.

7. The Trunk of a dead Elm, that supports a Vine. Amicus post mortem. This is a Friend even after Death.

8. The Herb Trefoil, or Clover, with Snakes flying from it. Procul este profani. Hence ye Profane.

9. Several Poppies, of which the Heads of the Tallest are broken off and flung on the Ground. Æquari pavet alta minori. The most exalted fear to be equal with the least.

10. A Sheaf of Corn. Non metentis sed serentis. It belongs not to him that cuts it, but him who Sow'd it.

11. A Branch of Fern and a Reed, planted near one another. Disparem vites. Seperate from those who do not sympathize with you.

12. A Pot in which is the Plant call'd Basil. Quò molius eò suavius. The more gently I'm handled the sweeter I smell.

13. Corn spread ready for the Flail. Tribulatio ditat. Afflictions are Profitable.

14. A Tulip blown, but languishing. Langueseo sole latente. I languish in the absence of the Sun.

15. A Flower-de-liz. Semper inclita virtus. It always has Virtue.

XI.

1. A Lion Sleeping. Quis fuſcitare audeat. Who dares rouze Him.

2. A Lion looking directly forward. Virtutis in oculis pars. Foreſight is neceſſary to be join'd with Courage.

3. A Branch of Coral coming out of the Water. Robur & decus. It is ſtrong and fine.

4. A Canon pointed. Non ſolum armis. The uſe of Arms requires Science.

5. A Lion flying from a Flambeau. Totus ignis Lucem timet. He is all fire, but he fears the Light.

6. A Teleſcope on its Stand. Auget & miſcuit. It diminiſhes or enlarges Objects.

7. A Lion looking ſtrait forward. Sola Lumina terrent. His Eyes alone intimidate.

8. An Unicorn. Pro Oculis Ira. His Strength is near and before his Eyes.

9. A Lion opening his Throat. Hoſtem vocat & fugat. While he calls his Enemy, he makes him fly.

10. A Dog gnawing a Collar with points of Iron. Sibimet invidia vindex. Envy puniſhes it ſelf.

11. A Falcon tearing off its Bells. Fama nocet. Noiſe is tireſome.

12. A broken Bell. Ex pulſu noſcitur. It may be known by ſtriking it.

13. A Sun riſing with a Bat. Excæcat candor. Its Brightneſs dazzles me.

14. A Lion. Hyemes neſcit. Courage dreads no Weather.

15. A pair of Sheers upon a Piece of Cloath. Detrahit & decorat. I diminiſh it but I embelliſh it.

XII.

r. A Serpent climbing to the Top of Pyramid. Invia Virtuti nulla. Nothing impoſſible to Virtue.

. A Serpent leaving its Skin between Rocks. Poſitis novus exuviis. He ews himſelf.

. A Star. Nihil abſtulit illi Promotheus. has all his Fires.

. A Serpent biting its Tail in a Circle. iſque ab origine pendet. The End de- ds on the Beginning.

. A Scorpion. Morte medetur. It is Remedy when it is Dead.

. Two Vipers their Heads one within ther. Venus improba. Love kills us.

. A Star. Bona vel mala, quis ſcit? o knows if it is good or bad?

. A Viper whoſe young ones pierce Belly. Suo premitur exemplo. She is ed in her own kind.

9. A Snail encloſed in its Shell. Bene qui latuit. He is Happy who is not too much known.

10. A Viper eating a Spider. Diræ diris paſcuntur. One ill thing is of uſe to another.

11. A Snail crawling up a Tree. Fert omnia ſecum. He carries with him all that belongs to him.

12. A Star. Inclinat non cogit. It conducts; but it does not compel.

13. A Full Moon. Plus mari quam terræ: It is more felt by the Sea than the Earth.

14. A Cornu-Copia. Herculis munus. I owe my Riches to my Courage.

15. A Creſcent, or half Moon. Defectum neſcit virtus, Virtue always increaſes.

XIII.

1. A Cupid holding a Flaming Heart in his Hand. Love is a hidden fire.

2. A Fish biting at the Hook. Non capio, ni capior. If I get any thing I run the hazard of being taken.

3. A Cupid that hides a lighted Flambeau with his Hand. Neither noise nor Pomp.

4. A Net in which are some Fishes taken, and others without gnawing it. Adversis non deesse decet. 'Tis shameful not to help the Unfortunate.

5. A Cupid taking a Heart from the midst of Thorns. After Pain comes Pleasure.

6. A Craw-Fish. Ante retroque. Backwards and forwards.

7. A Cupid forging a Heart upon an Anvil. It is fashioned but for You.

8. A Pearl in its Shell beneath the Sun. Clarescit æthere Claro. It shines in the Light.

9. A blind Cupid led by a Dog. Fidelity conducts me.

10. A Crocodile. Devorat & ploret. It weeps to devour.

11. A Cupid chusing a Heart. One contents me.

12. A Crocodile. Cum tempore crescit. Time encreases its Growth.

13. A Sea Calf. Secure. It is everywhere in safety.

14. A Cupid Fishing. I stick to those that deserve best.

15. A Hydra. Vix Hercules. Hercules did not easily subdue me.

XIV.

1. A Bomb burſting. Ve illi quem tetigerit. Woe to him that it reaches.

2. A Head with two Faces, one before and one behind. Prudentes. Prudence looks every Way.

3. A Comet. Non ignari mali. It forbodes miſchief.

4. A Pallas armed, with an Owl at her Feet, and a Serpent by her Cuſtodiendas virgines. A Maid ought to be well watched with Prudence and cunning.

5 A Dog dead near the Tomb of his Maſter. Talis amor teneat. 'Twould be Happy if we could find ſuch Friends.

6. A Poſt in a Croſs-way to direct Travellers with the Head of Mercury upon it. Quâ Deus vocat eundum. We ought to take the way that God points out.

7. A Branch with many lighted Candles in it together. Uno eodemque igni. It is one and the ſame Fire that burns us all.

8. A naked Man going along the Road. Omnia mea mecum porto. I carry about me all that is my own.

9. A dark Sky with ſome Stars. Lumen ademptum. We are rob'd of our Light.

10. Three Mens Bodies joyn'd in one and armed. Concordia inſuperabilis. Concord is invincible.

11. A Stork carrying a Serpent to her Young ones in the Neſt for Food. Gratiam referendam. We ought to thank them that do us good, and make an Acknowledgment of it.

12. A Child ſtriving to pull down the Branches of a Palm-Tree to take the Fruit. Obduranãum adverſus urgentia. We muſt encounter Difficulties if we would ſucceed in our Undertakings.

13. A Buckler upon which is painted a Fly. Cominus quò minus. The leſs it is, the nearer it muſt be beheld.

14. A Pallas armed and a Bacchus with his Cup. Vino prudentiam ugeri. It is to Wine that Prudence oppoſes herſelf.

15. A Cat. Arbitrii mihi jura mei. My will is my Law.

XV.

1. A Graff upon an old Tree. When it pleases God.

2. A Well. Motu clarior. My Water is most sweet when it is moved.

3. A Sea Monster fastened to a Rock in a tempestuous Sea. Sic quiesco. I rest thus in the midst of the Storm.

4. A Dragon at the Foot of an Apple-Tree loaded with Golden Apples. Yo mejor las guardare. I shall watch them best.

5. A Hive with Bees. Ilus mellis quam fellis. There is more sweet than bitter.

6. A Fountain coming from a Rock in the middle of the Sea. Sic breve dulce meum. My sweetness is but small in comparison with the salt Sea.

7. An Eagle that in approaching too near the Sun has burnt its Wings. Aude aliquid dignum. Undertake something Great.

8. A Noon Sun over a calm Sea. Nur quam siccabitur æstu. I shall never be dry'd up by Heat.

9. An Eagle looking full at the Sun. Ny matar me, ny Spantar me. Its Rays can neither kill nor dazzle me.

10. A Sun wrapt up in Clouds. Obstantia solvet. He will dissipate what would obstruct his Light.

11. A Rock in the middle of a tempestuous Sea. In motu immobile. It is calm in the Storm.

12. A Tomb covered with Flowers. Placeam vivus, lauder mortuus. To please in Life and be praised in Death.

13. A Quiver without any Arrows. Hærent in corde sagittæ. They are all fix'd in my Heart.

14. A Dove with an Olive Branch. Fræuntia pacis. I bring Peace.

15. An Eagle coming out of a Fountain where she had bathed herself. Dum mergitur emergit. She comes out more fresh and Gay.

XVI

XVI.

1. A Cupid with his Mouth tyed up. Muto, mà no cieco. I am dumb, but not blind.

2. An Oak. Ventis immota ſuperbit. 'Tis immoveable.

3. Two Cupids each preſenting the other with his Heart. Uno per altro. One for another.

4. A Tree dead and loaded with Ivy. Sic ſerire juvat. It is pleaſant in Death to give Life to others.

5. A Cupid grafting a Tree. The Fruit of Lovers is the ſweeteſt.

6. A Spaniſh Flower which ſmells ſweet in the Morning. Muſis Aurora benigna. The Morning is moſt favourable for the Muſes.

7. A Cupid weeping at the Foot of a Tomb. I weep for her Death and my Life.

8. A Tree growing againſt a Wall. Obſequio non vi. I'm lead not forc'd.

9. A Hercules wounded with an Arrow. Virefcit vulnere virtus.

10. A Caper-Tree coming out of a Rock that it has ſplit. Marmora findit. It cleaves the Marble.

11. A Cupid quitting his Arms to follow a Heart. I have forſaken all for you.

12. A Branch of Palm and a Branch of Cypreſs entangled one in another. Erit altera merces. They ſhall be the Recompence of each other.

13. A Palm-Tree with Snakes and Frogs at the Foot of it. Invidia integritatis aſſecla. Envy attends Integrity.

14. A Cupid pouring Water on a burning Heart. He will never extinguiſh it.

15. An Oak cut and pruned. Per domna per cædes. I ſhall flouriſh again after being wounded.

XVII.

1. A Cob-web with a Hornet getting out and little Flies that are kept in. Violentior exit. Thoſe who have ſtrength ſave themſelves.

2. A Whale ſtung upon the Shore. Mole ruit ſua. His greatneſs deſtroys him.

3. A Dolphin ſporting upon the Water. Metuenda procella. He protends a Storm.

4. A Dolphin ſtung aſhore by the Sea. Quem genuit perdit. She kills her own Creatures.

5. A Ship at full ſail ſtopt by a little Fiſh. Cauſa latet. That which ſtops me does not appear.

6. A Dolphin looking on high. Ad ſidera vultus. I behold the Heavens.

7. Several little Fiſhes that the Tide forſakes. Quod nos alit, nos tradit. That which nouriſhes betrays us.

8. A Weil Net with Fiſh taken in it, and others without that would get in. Animus non omnibus idem. They are not all of the ſame mind.

9. A Pike eating another. Propriis non parcus. He ſpares none.

10. A Globe of the World upon a Lobſter. Orbis iter.

11. A great Barbel. Non illauda'a ſenectus.

12. A Salamander in the midſt of Flames. Candidè & ſincere. My Innocence preſerves me there.

13. A Frog. Mihi terra lacuſque. Either Water or Earth ſuits me.

14. A large Fiſh in the Sea. Solus jam grandior errat. I am ſtrong enough to go alone.

15. A Frog upon the Head of a great Fiſh, clawing his Eyes. Æſtu non vi. There is more cunning than ſtrength in it.

XVIII.

1. An Ape that ſtifles her Young one in embracing it. Cæcus amor ſobolis. A Parents Love is Blind.

2. A Tortoiſe. Domus optima. The beſt Houſe is that which belongs to ones ſelf.

3. A Squirel croſing a River upon a little Board, with his Tail cock'd. Vincit ſolertia vires. Cunning ſurpaſſes Strength.

4. A Tortoiſe getting up a Hill. Tandem. She will reach the Top at laſt.

5. An Otter holding a Fiſh. Savit in omnes. She does not ſpare any.

6. An Oſtrich that hatches her Eggs by blowing upon them. Diverſa virtute valet. Her Virtue does not reſemble that of others.

7. An Oſtrich ſwallowing a Horſe-Shoe. Virtus duriſſima coquit. Virtue ſurmounts the moſt difficult things.

8. A Peacock diſplaying his Tail. Sibi pulcherrima merces. He is fine in his own Conceit.

9. A Swan in the Water. Unius Coloris. He is fair all times alike.

10. A Swan upon a Tomb. Sibi canit & orbi. He ſings, at leaſt he pronounces, his own Death and that of others.

11. A Swan under a Lawrel-Tree. Nil fulgara terrent. My Innocence does not fear the Thunder.

12. A Crane holding a Stone in her Claws. Ne improviſo. It will be difficult to ſurprize me.

13. A Crane that lets Sand fall from her Beak. Loco & Tempore. To ſpeak only in proper Time and Place.

14. A Falcon in the Air coming down upo . Hare. Sponte mea. I deſcend naturally.

15. Falcon letting go a Sparrow that he has taken. Fidem ſervabo genuſque. I will do nothing unworthy my Faith and my Race.

XIX

XIX

1. Two Doves, Male and Female. Conjunctio fida. Love unites us.

2. A Turtle upon a dry Branch. Idem cantus gemitusque. My Songs and wailings are the ſame.

3. A Woodpecker piercing a Tree. Hæc merces tuta Laboris. My Labours great but my Reward ſure.

4. A Patridge coming out of his Shell. Nulla mitis mora eſt. Delays are dangerous.

5. A Nightingale with its young ones, upon a Tree. Melior doctrina Parentum. A Parent is the beſt Inſtructor.

6. A Nightingale with its young ones. Vaciturnia. This is no time to ſing.

7. An Owl and a Crow fighting. Implacabile Bellum. Wiſdom and Noiſe are always at Enmity.

8. A Crow that fills a Veſſel of Oyl with Stones. Ingenio experiar. I live by my wits.

9. A Swallow upon a Houſe. Amica non ſerva. I viſit as a Friend, but will not be detained as a Servant.

10. A Swallow that is flying croſs the Sea. Alio Hybernandum. I ſeek a warmer Climate.

11. A Hive with a ſwarm of Bees. Labor omnibus unus. We all Labour alike.

12. A Bee upon a Roſe. Sine injuria. I ſteal your ſweets but hurt you not.

A Graſhopper, Expecto donec veniet. I wait for the Summer.

14. A Butterfly burning in a Candle. Damnoſa voluptas. Pleaſure is dangerous.

15. A Looking-Glaſs with a Bee upon it. Scabris tenacius hæc. This is more inviting than Filthineſs.

XX.

1. A Chair. I'm uſeleſs unleſs I am ate in.

2. A Rake. Sparſa colligit. It gathers up what was diſperſed

3. An Empty Cage. Sine arte vacat. Where is no Learning there is Emptineſs.

4. A Spunge. Alienæ gravant. I am burthen'd with other Peoples Affairs.

5. A Sun-Flower the Sun ſhining upon it. Vota ſequuntur. My Deſire is after you.

6. A Lyon. Igneus eſt illi vigor. His ſtrength inflames him.

7. A Triumphal Arch. Gaudet ſub pondere Tellus. The Earth is proud of its Load.

8. A Looking-Glaſs. Splendidior motu. I am more brighter by moving.

9. A Heart hanging over the Water. Pacatis ludit in Undis. It rejoyces in calm Weather.

10. A Watch Tower upon the Seaſhore. Terram perluſtrat in Undis. It enlightens both Sea and Land.

11. A bundle of Arrows bound in one Cord. Omnes continet unus. One unites them all.

12. A Sun-dial and a cloudy Sky. Mihi tollunt Nubila ſolem. The Clouds keep the Sun from me.

13. Two Hearts inflam'd. Ut duo unum componunt. One Fire is common to both.

14. A tame Lyon. Non furit ſed indomitus. He is not furious tho' he is invincible.

15. A Star. Monſtrat viam. 'Tis a ſure guide.

XXI.

1. A Duck biting a Herb with his Beak. Deficiam aut efficiam. I will do it or dye.

2. Love Tempering his Arrows, at a Fire. Lentus tamen æternus. Slow but lasting.

3. A Hedg-Hog roll'd up in a heap. Meâ me virtute involvo. I wrap my self up in my Integrity.

4. Love sowing the Seeds of Poppies. Oblivioni. To forgetfulness.

5. A Mushroom. Quo citò fit citò perit. Upstarts are of short continuance.

6. Love grinding his Arrows on a Millstone. Mens immota manet. My mind is constant, let others vary.

7. A Cameleon. Mutatur in Horas. Every moment changeable.

8. Love at a Garden-Door. Amoris ostium non Hostium. The Gate of Love not of Enemies.

9. A Lawrel in Thunder. Spoliamur jure vetusto. I am safe by my ancient Right.

10. Love pouring Gold out of a Bag. Auro conciliatur Amor. Love is reconcilable with Gold.

11. A Bell ringing. Sibi non sapit uni. It is not for my self that I sound.

12. Love with his Bow, but no Arrows. Pulchræ puellarum Luminæ Telæ mihi. I borrow my Shafts from the Eyes of fair Ladies.

13. A Spider mending its broken Web. Interruptæ retextam. However baulk'd I still persist in my Labour.

14. A Vestal Virgin guarding the fire on an Altar, and Love with his Torches talking with her. Nostræ æterna magis. Religion's fire lasts longer than that of Love.

15. A Turtle upon a dry Branch. Infletum ducere vites. I sing in mournful Strains.

XXII.

1. A Sheaf of Corn. Laboris fulcimentum. This is the Reward of my Labour.

2. The Globe of the Earth hanging in the Air. Meæ fuâ ſtat. It is ſelf poiz'd.

3. A Sun-Flower. Solem ſola ſequor. I follow the Sun.

4. Two Palm-Trees Male and Female. Sic niſi tecum. We thrive beſt together.

5. A Ship with two Anchors. Binis immota manebo. Doubly ſecur'd I'm immoveable.

6. A ſtraight Palm-Tree loaden with Fruit. Stat recta feraxque. It is ſtraight and fuitfull.

7. A Bird of Paradiſe flying and carrying its young ones upon its back. Meos ad ſydera tollo. I lift my young ones towards Heaven.

8. A Rainbow. Dat pactum Æther. It promiſes a ſerene Sky.

9. A Burning Glaſs expos'd to the Sun. Hinc ſplendor & ardor. I take my Brightneſs and Heat from hence.

10. A Rainbow. Nitet atque ſerenat. It brightens and calms the Air.

11. A Compaſs, and the north Star. Conſtanter reſpicit unum. True to one.

12. A Rainbow. Ignotus ſine ſole decor. Without the Sun I have no Beauty.

13. A Sun Eclipſed. Languet et Urit. I Languiſh while I burn.

14. A Serpent cut in two. Nec mors nec vita relicta. I cannot live, and yet I cannot dye.

15. A Peacock ſpreading his tail and ſinging. Ut placeat taceat. In order to pleaſe it muſt be ſilent.

XXIII.

1. A Hedghog. Undique tutus. Safe on all ſides.

2. A Moon. Accipit ut det. She receives to give.

3. A Lyon that breaks the Arrow with which he is wounded. Non moriemer inultus. I ſhall not dye unreveng'd.

4. A Lyon bold and watchful.

5. A Wolf ſeizing another. Nec juſtus capta relaxat.

6. An Orange-Tree full of Flowers and Fruits. Nil mihi tollet hyems. Winter ſtrips me not.

7. An Ox dead at the foot of an Altar. Moriendo ſacra tuentur. I preſerve ſacred uſages.

8. A Burning Mountain. Undique terr[illegible]. Horrible from far on all ſides.

9. A Heron flying among the Clouds. Altior procellis.

10. A Cube, Stabor quocunque ferar. I ſtand faſt turn me how you will.

11. A Lawrel. Doctos forteſque coronat. It is a Crown for Learning and Valour.

12. An Oſtrich eating Iron Durum ſed dirigit. It is hard to digeſt it but ſtill ſhe digeſts it.

13. A Peacock ſpreading her Tail. Proprios oſtentat honores. She ſhows her gaiety.

14. A Match on fire. Perit ſed in armis. It periſhes but in War.

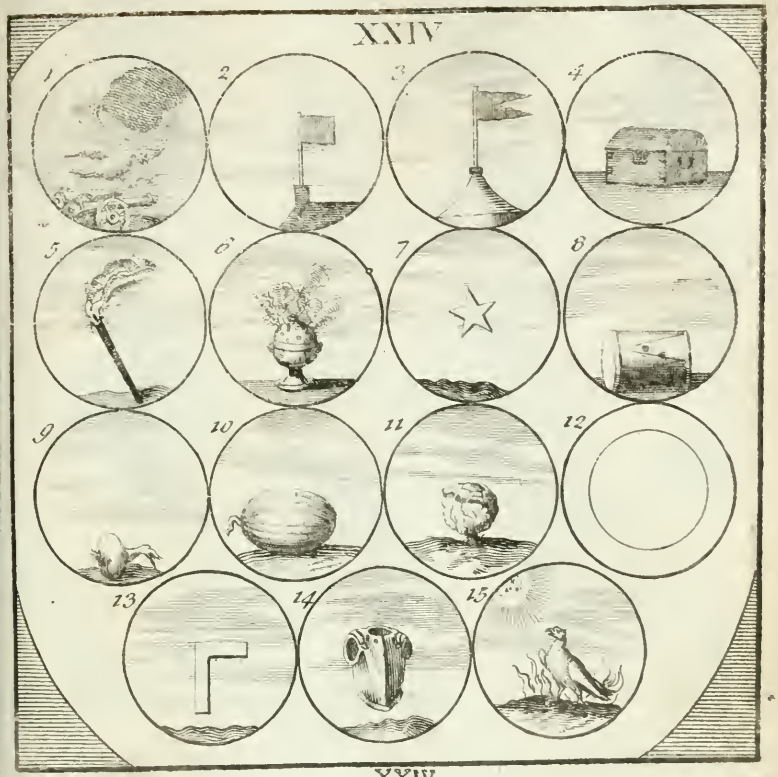
15. A Corcodile. Sic crevit ab ovo Great Miſchiefs come from ſmall beginnings.



XXIV.

1. An Eagle flying in the Air, in a Storm of Lightning over a Battery of Cannons. Neutri timent. She dreads neither.

2. A Weathercock. Ensus manducas constante. Constant in Inconstancy.

3. A Weather-Cock. Parata ad omni Vento, I shift with every Wind.

4. A Casket in a strong Box. Homero potiora recondit. I enclose what is now more esteemed than Homer.

5. A Flambeau lighted. Lux in tenebris. I dispel the darkness of the Night.

6. An Incense-Pot smoaking. Utile dulci meruit, Religion is not only absolutely necessary but pleasant.

7. A Star in the Sky. Cœlo hæret solo lucet. Although it is fixt in Heaven it regards the Earth.

8. A Drum. Sin ruido nada. It is of no use but to make a Noise.

9. An Onion. Chi mi morde piange. Whosoever bites me shall cry.

10. A Melon. Unus è multis. One out of many.

11. A Cabbage. De mi blancura mi durezza. My firmness vies with my whiteness.

12. A Circle. Quis metiet. Who shall measure Eternity.

13. A Carpenters Square. Forè retto sola mente. I try what is just.

14. A Coat of Mail. Virtus meliora ministrat. Virtue affords better.

15. A Phœnix. Segando se halla. I have no Peer.

XXV.

1. A Windmill. Venti non terrent. A Storm is my Livelyhood.

2. An Hour-Glass. Sed tandem fensim. I tell the Hour by little and little.

3. An Eagle holding a Thunderbolt. Alijs Lethum mihi Gloria. This brings Death to others; but to me Glory.

4. A burning Mountain. Causa latet. The cause is hid.

5. A Cross-Bow half bent. Quebrar o alcantur. I bend or break.

6. The Globe of the World divided into four Elements, Nunc fœtibus apta. 'Tis now fit for Procreation.

7. A Fishing-Rod and Line, and a Fish at it. Non capio, ni capior. If I nibble at the Bait, I shall be caught by the Hook.

8. A Bow unbent. Mi riposo no es flaqueza. My Easement is my Strength.

9. A Lawrel planted, and a troubled Sky, and Thunder. Intacta Virtus. Nothing can offend Virtue.

10. A Pitcher which drops drop by drop upon a Stone, wherein it has made an Impression. Gutta cavans Lapidem. There is still my Hope

11 An Elephant. Infestus tantum infestis. I do no ill but to those who are Injurious.

12. A Phœnix in its Fire. Ut vivat It dyes to live.

13. A Serpent holding its Tail in its Mouth. Ut prudenter vivam. That I may live discreetly.

14. An Incense-Pot smoaking. Fragrat adustum. It sends forth a fragrancy in burning.

15. A Cock that sees a Diamond, and neglects to take it up. Cuique sua dos. Every one in his way.

XXVI.

1. An Elephant treading upon a Serpent which bites him. Non impunè feres. Your Rage ſhall not go unpuniſhed.

2. A Lyon wounded and bit by a Dog. Nec cæſus cedam. I ſcorn to yield though I am dying.

3. A Lyon who devours an Ape. Ad medelam. I make uſe of a Fool by way of Phyſick.

4. A Lyon that flyes from a lighted Flambeau. Magnos vana fugant. Great Men are often fear'd by Trifles.

5. A Lyon that eſcapes a ſnare. Iram Prudentiæ vincit. Diſcretion overcomes Fury.

6. A Lawrel-Tree ſupporting a Vine. Sic vos non vobis. I am a ſupport to others.

7. A Vine growing upright, without ſupport. Se ſuſtulit ipſa. She's independant.

8 An Oak, and a Palm-Tree full of Fruit, which repreſent the Golden Age. Sperare neſas. 'Tis in vain to wiſh to recover time paſt.

9. A Holly-Tree or Thorn. Suſtine vel abſtine. Either let me alone, or expect to prick your Fingers.

10. A Roſe-Tree in Winter. Neglecta vireſcunt. Tho' I am forſaken now, I ſhall be courted in Summer.

11. A Pine-Apple. Niſi fregeris haud licet eſſe. You muſt take the pains to break my Coat, before you can taſte my Kernel.

12. A Tree called Purſea, with Leaves reſembling a Tongue, and the Fruit a Heart. Concordiæ Cordis et Oris. Let your Heart and Tongue correſpond with one another.

13. A Pine-Tree with a Gourd climbing round it, full of Fruit. Cito nata, cito perennt. Haſty Productions never laſt long.

14. A Roſe-Tree in Bloſſom, which the raſcally Flies devour. Turpibus exitium. Beauty is often a prey to mean and baſe Creatures.

15. A Table with Glaſſes full of Wine. Sit modus in Rebus. Be moderate in your Cups.

XXVII.

1. A Thunderbolt that cleaves a Rock. Frangit inaccessa. 'Tis rent with the greatest force.

2. A Lyon holding a Tyger. Sternit & parcet. He has Mercy in his Rage.

3. A Palm-Tree. Nusquam sub Mole fatiscit. No weight can bear it down.

4. A Dyal expoſed to the Sun. Nec Momentum sine Linea. Make uſe of Time.

5. A Moon with this Sentence. Fraterna luce corruscat. It is the Sun her Brother that affords her Light.

6. An Arrow ſhot. Recta et cito. Straight and Speedy.

7. A River falling into the Sea. Obliquus non devius. I make many Windings, but turn not from my Courſe.

8. A Pearl with its Shell. Me dura tuentur. I am Strongly guarded.

9. A Sun ſhining thro' a Cloud. Quæ en ſe me oppono me corona. My Afflictions are my Glory.

10. A Watch. Cheto fuor, comoto dento. I have a fair and ſmooth outſide, but am troubled and diſturb'd inwardly.

11. A Young Eagle. Ad Fulmina naſcor. I'm born for War.

12. A River entring into the Sea. Major en ſu finar. My end is moſt Spacious.

13. A Water-Spout. Queſivit Cœlo lucem. It mounts towards Heaven.

14. A Brook entring a River. Perde il nome mi creſſe. I looſe my Name by growing Great.

15. A Nightingale in a Cage. De mi canto mi carcal. I ſing tho' I am confin'd.

XXVIII.

1. A Lure for a Faulconer. Spe lactat inani. It is to deceive.

2. A Hand reaching at a Feather. Ulterius ne tende Odiis. Abstain from Invectives.

3. An Arrow broke against a Stone. Infringit solido. It is dangerous to attack what is Stronger than ourselves.

4. A Whetstone. Terit & teritur. It wears and is worn.

5. A piece of Money. Vera notitia fidei. 'Tis a proof of Fidelity.

6. A Plant which puts out Flowers at each Stem. Poco a poco. By little and little.

7. A Bird Moulting. Renovata Juventus. I renew my Youth.

8. A Gun Match on fire. Vivit ad extremum. Alive to the last.

9. A Bow broken but the String whole. Potuisti linquere solam.

10. The Moon approaching towards the Sun. Et erit ut liceat.

11. A Water-Pot for a Garden. Lachrymansque gemensque. I weep and mourn.

12. A Mole coverd with Earth. Tædet Cœli convexa tueri. I am displeas'd with having the Heavens for my Canopy.

13. A Myrrh-Tree weeping its drops upon a Fire. Lachrymæque decoræ. My Tears are agreeable.

14. A Hen defending her Chickens from a Hawk. Omnia vincit Amor. Love conquers all things.

15. A Mill whose Wheel receives its Water from an Aqueduct. Lachrymis exhauxo Labores. My Labour is equal to my Tears.

XXIX.

1. A Juniper-Tree. Quid Odor ſine flore. To what purpoſe is ſmell without bloſſoms.

2. A Crane holding a Stone in its beak. Pone ori frenum. Keep a Bridle to thy Mouth.

3. A Goat going to crop a green Buſh. Ibi bene. That's good.

4. A Crane holding a Stone in its Claws. Ne ſopor irruit. Be watchful.

5. A Moon in an Eclipſe. Frater ſuccurre Sorori. O Sun relieve me.

6. A Maſque. Vera latent. 'Tis all a diſguiſe.

7. An Elephant marching upon a Rope. Ny ca ny la.

8. A Swallow. Nullo flectitur Obſequio. It is not to be obliged.

9. A Camel loaden with Merchandiſe. Nec onus nec meta gravabit. Neither the Burthen nor Journey will tire me.

10. A Well with two Buckets one up the other down. Va et viene. Going and coming.

11. A Steal and Flint ſtriking Fire. Uro quod urit. I burn to ſet others on Fire.

12. A River with many windings. Quies inquies. I flow eaſier by my wandring.

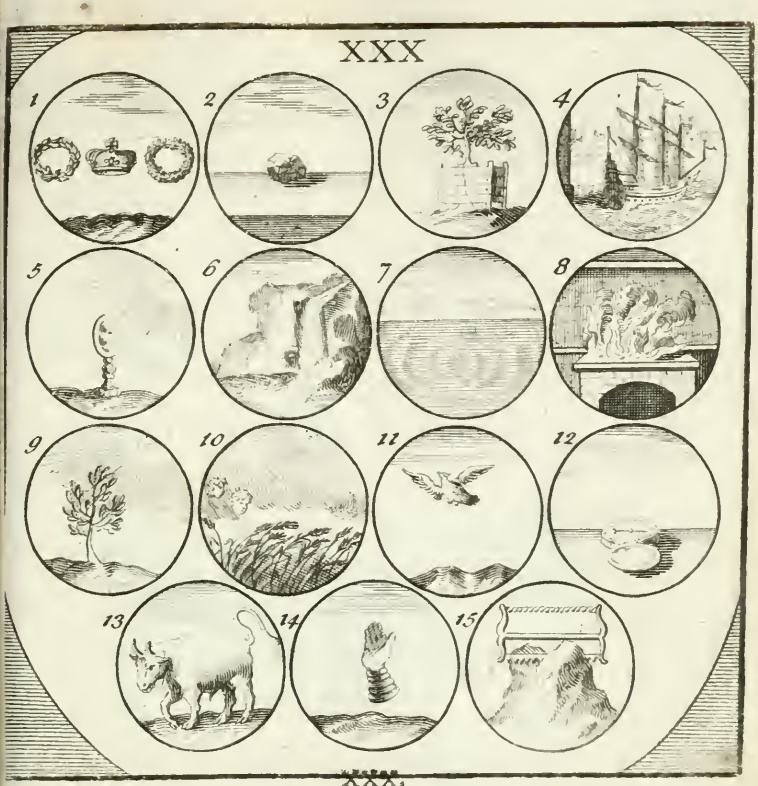
13. A Viper that devours a Scorpion. Worſe and worſe.

14. A Cypher engrav'd upon a young Tree. Creſcit Arbor gliſcit ardor. The Tree and Love encreaſe together.

15. A Porcupine. Decus & Tutamen in Armis. My Beauty and my Defence is in my Weapons.



XXX.

1. A Crown between a Garland of Myrrh and another of Laurel. Digna ſocietas. Worthy one another.

2. A Diamond cut on ſeveral ſides. Quot facies tot Ignes. It ſparkles from every Surface.

3. An Orange-Tree charged with Fruit and Flowers. Et promittit & dare poteſt. It can both Promiſe and Perform.

4 A Ship with her Sails furl'd. Multorum ſpes. The Hope of many.

5. A Burning-glaſs expos'd to the Sun. Reddit quod accipit. What it receives it returns.

6. A Torrent ruſhing out of a Hill. Hinc Strages hinc Merces. I bring Danger and Profit.

7. A Stone that makes ſeveral Circles upon the Water. Uno pereunte creſcit alter. As one goes another comes.

8. A Bar of Iron upon a Forge. Sola diligentia prodeſt. Profit attends Diligence.

9. A Lawrel newly planted turning to the Sun. Primos ne oblivi ſcaris Amores. Forget not your firſt Love.

10. A Roſe-Tree ſhook with the Wind, but enliven'd by the Sun. Major eſt qui ſuſtinet. The Sun which relieves me is more powerful.

11. An Eagle flying. Non fregit qui querit Hoſtes.

12. A Watch with the Caſe open. Labor intus. The Movements are hidden.

13. A Bull ready for Combat. Aut Mors aut Victoria. Death or Victory.

14. A Gauntlet. Servat & agreditur. It is good for Defence and Attack.

15. A Saw in a Rock. Ars tandem perficiet. Art will at length conquer it.

XXXI.

1. A Lyon. Bonus dux Malus Socius. A good Guide but a bad Companion.

2. A Comet. Dum luceam peream. I waſte myſelf while I threaten others.

3. A Lyon. Malus Hoſpes. A fierce Man is no agreeable Landlord.

4. Two red Ribbons near one another. Paupura juxta purpuram. The nearer they approach the nobler is their Luſtre.

5. A Trophy of Arms. Alienis ſpoliis. Of the Spoils of Enemies.

6. A Golden Crown and within it a Crown of Thorns. Bonum fallax. 'Tis a fine deluſion.

7. A Pearl in the Shell. Nec queſiveris extra. Seek not for Happineſs from without.

8. A Lyon. Unum peperi. I bring forth but one.

9. A Roſe-Tree in a Pot having Thorns but no Roſes. Ferendum & ſperandum. I bear Thorns but hope for Roſes.

10. A Lyon beholding himſelf in a Looking-Glaſs. Mihi Similis. 'Tis like myſelf.

11. An Adder mark'd with Stars along its Body. Ex luce luces. I have Venom as well as Brightneſs.

12. A Bough in the Water the top of it dry. Fallimur Opinioni. We are deceiv'd with Appearances.

13. The Moon and Stars. Lumine ſolis. Their Light are borrowed from the Sun.

14. A Mountain in a Storm of Thunder. Jovi & fulmini. 'Tis ſubject to God and to his Anger.

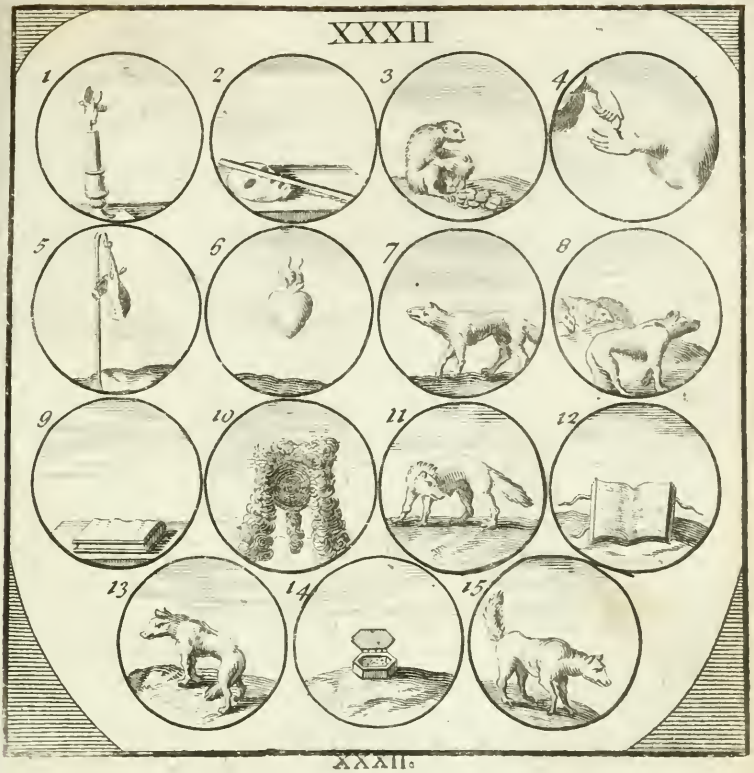
15. The Scorpion in the Zodiack. Mas cbe ru la tierra vocivo. His Quality is more remarkable as a celeſtial Sign than an earthly Animal.



XXXII.

1. A Butterfly burning in a Candle. Nocet empta dolore Voluptas. What I thought my Pleasure proves my Death.

2. A Cudgel laid cross a Mask. Figenti nulla esset Injuria. There can be no Injury offer'd to one who disguises himself.

3. An Ape who turns out a Bag of Guineas. Si male parta male dilabuntur. A wastful Son spends his Fathers illgot Wealth.

4. One Hand which gives into another Hand a Piece of Money. Bis dat qui cito dat. A Bounty given in time is of double Value.

5. A Shepherds Crook with a Bagpipe hanging thereat. Da buona guardia vero piazer. Pleasure and Security.

6. A Heart on fire. Quod palam hoc clam. I burn inwardly as much as I appear to do.

7. A Wolf. Da natura mi ventura. My Conduct is according to my Constitution.

8. A Wolf and a Sheep feeding near him. Cavete. Beware of your selves.

9. A Book shut. Pretium intus. The Worth is inclos'd.

10. A Peruke. Olim vituperium nunc ornamentum. What was once Scandalous Use makes Ornamental.

11. A Wolf. Non Sola. I have a fair appearance.

12. An open Book. Da mihi bonta mia vita. My Worth is lasting.

13. A Wolf with his Tail between his Legs. Non sine timore. Fierce Rapine is attended with Fear.

14. A Snuff-Box. Servitus. It is a Slave.

15. A Wolf with his Tail erect. Quid timeo. What do I fear.

XXXIII.

1. An Ant. Diligentia & Arte. I live by my Industry.

2. One Stork carrying another Stork. Pietas auguſta. The greateſt of Piety is in the Son to ſuccour his Father in Neceſſity.

3. A Crane flying and carrying a Stone in its Claws. Prudentia. It is good to guard ourſelves with Prudence.

4. A Nightingale. Renovatum nunciat vernum. It brings Tidings of the Spring.

5. A Sparrow. Laſciva paſſer. The Bird of Wantonneſs.

6. A Tulip. Preter colorem nihil. Beauty without Virtue is like a fine Flower without Smell.

7. A Painter's Tablet ready for Painting. Ad omnia. I will take any Picture or Impreſſion.

8. A Lyon. Animus cum Robore mixtus. Strength and Courage mixt together.

9. A Lyon's Foot holding a Scepter. Quis auferet? Who ſhall take it away?

10. A Ball. Concuſſus ſurgo. I reboud and riſe.

11. A Lyon's Tail. Flectitur & riget. 'Tis bent thro' Fear.

12. A Lyon dormant. Cor vigilat. He ſleeps, but his Heart is awake.

13. A Lyon's Hide. Virtuti ſolum. The ſhadow or appearance of Strength.

14. A Lilly. Candor non leditur Auro. Innocence is not to be corrupted.

15. A Lyon's Head crown'd. Non indigne. Courage deſerves a Crown.

XXXIV.

1. A Diamond. Mas firmezza che luz. Not more hard than bright.

2. A Compaſs directing towards the North. Nunc immota. I never vary.

3. A Dog's Collar arm'd with Iron Spikes. Sanciat & defendit. It defends myſelf and wounds my Adverſary.

4. A manag'd Horſe leaping the Rail. Exſilio non tranſilio.

5. A Thiſtle. Nemo me impune laceſſet. I am not to be handled.

6. A Crown of Laurel. 'Tis Immortal.

7. A Wheel of a Mill in the Water. Agit dum agitur. While it is moved itſelf it moves others.

8. A Flambeau revers'd and expiring. Qui me alit extinguit. My Nouriſhment is my Bane.

9. A Horſe running without Bridle or Saddle. Dominum generoſa reſugit. The Brave admit of no Maſter.

10. A Rock in the Sea. Conſtantiæ frangere frangit. Virtue is immovable as a Rock, and baffles all Attempts.

11. A Faulcon upon a Perch. Vincior ut vici. I am bound that I may conquer.

12. A Looking-glaſs Oſtendit nævos non contrahit. It ſhews Spots, but makes none.

13. A Sun covered with Clouds. Tegitur paret dum Fulmine. He is conceal'd while he threatens his Thunder.

14. An Arrow with this Motto. Se d'amore ferira il' cuore. The Heart that is wounded for Love is happy.

15. A Pomegranate-Flower. Aguardo a mi corona. I wait for my Crown.

XXXV.

1. A Fireſhip on fire. Damnum minatur non timet. It threatens others but fears no Miſchief.

2. A True-love Knot. Mors ſola reſolvit. Nothing but Death can unty it.

3. A Pine-Tree ſtanding upon a Rock. Quis evellet? Who ſhall pluck me up?

4. A young Eagle beginning to fly. Non annos Animus requirit. Virtue conſiſts not in Age.

5. A Sun-Flower turning to the Sun. Quocunque ſequar. I ſhall ever incline to you.

6. A Sword with its Point downward. Porrigite Lauros. The Laurel is my own.

7. A Cock. Et Soli & Marti. 'Tis an Emblem of Watchfulneſs as well as Courage.

8. A Fire in a Tree. Vel ſibi vel aliis. I burn myſelf or others.

9. A Gorgon. Ne aſpiciar. Look not on me.

10. A Branch of Laurel and a Branch of Myrrh. Altera alterius merces. One is a recompence for the other.

11. A Swallow flying towards the Sun: Gratioſus avocat ardor. I am invited by his kind Influence.

12. A Swarm of Bees. Quærit ut proficiat I ſearch to enrich others.

13. A Branch of Coral out of the Water. Duriciem quæro. I ſeek for Hardneſs.

14. A Fruit Tree in Bloſſom. Si Tempus favebit: I ſhall bear Fruit if the Seaſon is favourable.

15. A Dial of a Clock. Tot Horæ quot Vires. Meaſure your Time by your Strength.

XXXVI.

2. A Flambeau held by two Hands. Una binis. One only Flame for two Persons.

3. A Hen covering her Brood under her Wings. Servatque fovetque. She guards and nourishes.

3. A Mountain whose top is above the Clouds. Nubes excedit. 'Tis beyond the reach of Tempests.

4. A Hart discovering a Snare with its Foot. Nullis fraus tuta latebris. Treachery is easiy discover'd under all disguises.

5. A Mountain upon whose Top is a Palm-Tree. Per ardua surgo. I rise by difficulties.

6. Two Ostrich Feathers ty'd together by a Knot. Amor equat amantes. Love renders all equal.

7. One Lyon pursuing another. Provocatus pugno. If you had not attacked me I had not regarded you.

8. A Ship arriving in a Port in a Storm. Invitis veniam Ventis. I'm in Harbour maugre the Wind.

9. The Wind troubling the Sea. Turbat sed Extollit. I rise higher by Adversity.

10. A Rock attacked by the four Winds. Impavide. I'm void of fear.

11. A Pyramid. Solo hæret Cœlum spectat. I'm fixt to the Earth, but my Regard is to Heaven.

12. A Lyon who has killd a Fox. Fraus Virtute perit. Virtue destroys Treachery.

13. An Olive Tree upon a Trophy of Arms. Tuta Pedamine Virtus. Arms are the best foundation for Peace.

14. A Dog made fast. Dum laxar in Hostem. I'm only ty'd up to be let loose upon an Enemy.

15. The Sun piercing the Clouds. Si obvia frangit. Thus he removes all Obstacles.

XXXVII.

1. A Star. Par et impar. Lucky or unlucky.

2. A Key. Quod clausit nemo recludet. What I shut is not to be opened.

3. A Seal. Aperire nefas. 'Tis a Crime to break me open.

4. A Labourers Yoak. Superbo ferendo. I overcome Labour by Patience.

5. A Hand-Cuff and Chains. Hæc mitis ponit amor. I am bound in the Fetters of Love.

6. A Spindle and Thread hanging at a Distaff. Si non Fata rumpant. If Providence admits the Thread of Life to continue.

7. A Net with Fish in it. Non amore sed Errore. We came not here out of Love, but through Mistake.

8. A Crown of Lawrel. Soli victo i. The Conquerors Reward.

9. The Rudder of a Ship. Nisi Rectum. All's wrong unless my Conduct shews the way.

10. A Lamp burning. Plus Olei quam Vini. More Oyl than Wine.

11. A Cabbage growing near a Vine. Sobrietatis Olus. 'Tis the Remedy against Intemperance.

12. A Fig-Tree growing over a Bush of Rue. Dulciorem vicinia fecit. Your bitter Neighbourhood makes my Fruit the Sweeter.

13. A Lilly. Casta placent. Purity is lovely.

14. A Paviours Rammer. Vincit ab alto. The higher 'tis lifted the greater the Force.

15. A Weasel that Strangles a Panther. Fortem Superari sepe vidimus. The mighty are often destroy'd by little means.

XXXVIII.

1. A Diamond upon a Fire with Hammers upon it. Non ista nocent. I am injur'd by neither of these.

2. Love shooting an Arrow through a Heart. En constance en amour. In Constancy and Love.

3. A Corn-Fan. Inania pallo. I reject what is foolish.

4. Love holding three Hearts. Recieux plus fidele. Take the most faithful.

5. A Medal with a Picture hanging at a Chain. A te principium tibi desinit. My Love began for you and shall end with you.

6. Love labouring with a Pickax in a Rock. Col tempo. All in time.

7. A Turtle upon a dry Bough. O dulcis conjux. O my dear Mate.

8. Love embracing a Column with a Heart upon it. Rien ne surpas la constance. Nothing can surpass my Constancy.

9. The Sun setting and marking with long shades the Hour upon a Dial. Tantum mihi crescit in Horas. The setting Sun lengthens the Shadow.

10. Love carrying a Heart. Malgre l'Envie. In spite of Envy.

11. A Rock out of which a Fountain flows. Haret inexpletum lachrymans. For ever weeping.

12. Love choosing one Heart out of many. Un seul me Suffit. I desire but one.

13. A Heart and a Picture grav'd upon it. Dum memor ipse mei. This Impression will last while I live.

14. Love fighting with a Dragon. L' Amour seul est le plus fort. Love alone is Stronger.

15. A Swan in a River. Vitaque cum gemitu. She sings expiring.

XXXIX

1. A Labyrinth. Fata viam invenient. Deſtiny will relieve me.

2. Apollo who catches Daphne as ſhe is turned into a Laurel. Querit & Aſſequitur. I purſue the Laurel and I gain it.

3. A Labourers Yoak. Suave. It is Sweet.

4. Apollo the Sun in the Heavens, and the Nymph Leucothoe half in the Earth, and changing into a Myrrh-Tree. Sibi parat. It prepares Incenſe for the immortal Powers.

5. A Branch of Olives winding round a Club or Mace. Utrum libet. Chuſe Peace or War.

6. Apollo who flead Marſyas the Singer. Vindicat Artes. I vindicate the polite Sciences.

7. A Spiders Web. Lex exlex. Ay and no.

8. A Picture of the Head of a Perſon tenderly beloved. Solita luctus exigua ingentis. A ſmall conſolation for a Great Loſs.

9. A Harrow harrowing the Ground. Evertit & equat. It turns it up, and ſmooths it.

10. The Nymph Clitye lying and languiſhing upon the Earth, and, behind her, a Marygold inclining towards the Sun. Sic dignus Amari. I merit Love.

11. A Hedg-Hog having Fruit ſtuck upon his Briſtles. Magnum vectigal Parſimonia. Good Management is a large Revenue.

12. The Nymph Coronis pierc'd with an Arrow, and the Sun above her. Violenti Numinis Ultor. I revenge an offended Diety.

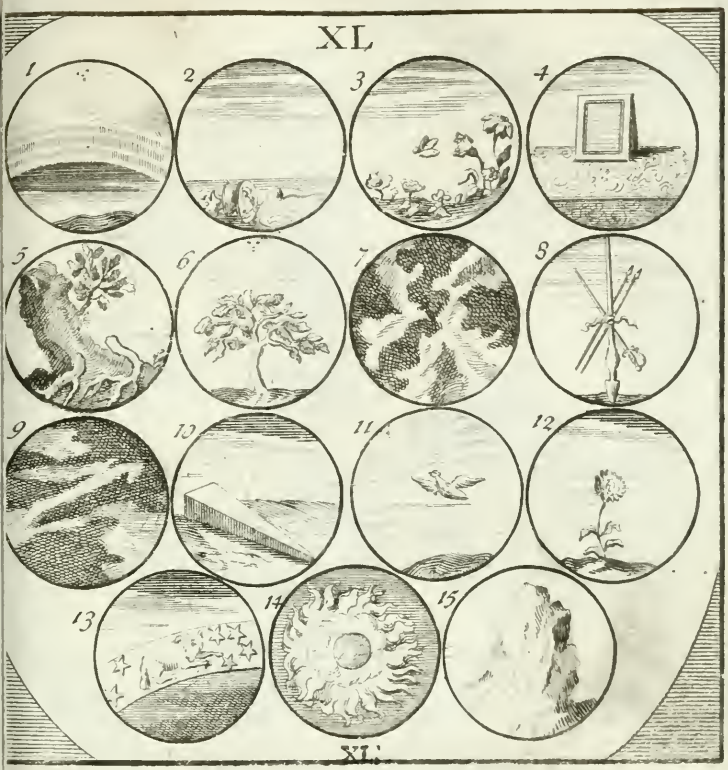
13. A Tun pierc'd, from which the Water iſſues out, in ſeveral places. Huc illuc perfluor. Thus I diminiſh.

14. Apollo ſhooting at the Serpent Python, who laid the Earth waſte. Utilis Orbi. This for the general good of the World.

15. A Caltrop. Quocunque ferar. Turn me which way you will I fall right.



XL.

1. A Rainbow. Non aquas ſine ſole dabo. No Rain without Sun.

2. An Impreſſion of a Hero upon a Seal. Ad finem ſervat. It continues till Death.

3. A Bee upon a Pareterre of Flowers Hinc ſtudiis alimenta meis. Gather Inſtructions from the choiceſt Books.

4. A Looking-Glaſs. Nemini parcit It flatters no Body.

5. A Trunk of a Tree, out of which onely one ſmall Branch ſprings freſh. In ſpem exurgit. I renew my Hopes.

6. The Picture of the Sun. Fugit Hyems. The Winter is paſt.

7. Lightning. Cavete. Take Care.

8. A Stand of different Arms, Eligite. Take your Choice.

9. Lightning breaking from a Cloud, Non ſine Jove. I am ſent by God.

10. A Pyramid fallen down. Ad Gloriam erigitur. It was raiſed to render its Founder Immortal.

11. An Eagle flying towards the Sun. Non eſt Mortale quod Opto. My deſire is after Heavenly Things.

12. A Marygold. Tibi Soli. I am for the Sun alone.

13. The Circle of the Zodiack. Felices incboat annos. I begin the happy Seaſon of the Year.

14. A Sphere of Fire. Hinc pura Semina flammæ. The ſource of pure Fire.

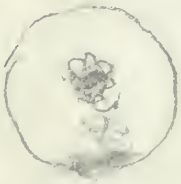
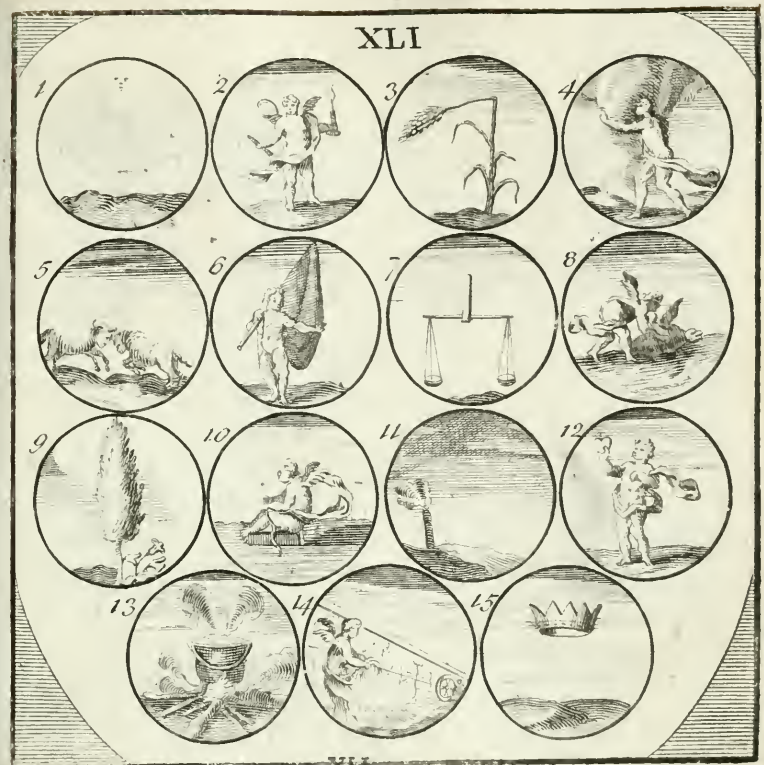
15. A very high Mountain. Ut ſemper aſpiciar. I am rais'd to an extraordinary Height to be the view of the whole World.





XLI.

1. The Sun. Neque retro gradior, neque devio. I neither go backward, nor out of my Way.

2. Love holding a Torch. Mai si vedra.

3. An Ear of Wheat, the Stalk broken. Mihi pondere Casus. My own Weight is my Ruin.

4. A Man embracing a Cloud. Nil ficta juvabunt. Fancy has no real Happineſs.

5. Two Sheep playing together. Deus nobis hæc Otia fecit. Our Leiſure and our Happineſs is from God.

6. Love holding an Enſign of War. Efferam aut referam. I will either Die or bring it back.

7. An even Ballance. Stateram ne transilias. Neither ſide can ſway Juſtice.

8. Love imping a Turtle's Wings. Ut ſit velocior. To aſſiſt her Flight.

9. A Violet growing at the Root of a Cypreſs-Tree. Sola mihi. redoles. Your fragrance is for me alone

10. Love paſſing the Water upon his Quiver. Amour trouve moyen. Love finds out means.

11. A piece of a lighted Flambeau almoſt burnt out. Schema il favour, crescon gli affanny. My End draws near.

12. Love holding a Heart. Omnia mea. 'Tis all in my Poſſeſſion.

13. A Kettle over a Fire. No es buena ſo ſola. If I was not full of Water I ſhould be good for nothing.

14. Love ſpinning a Cord. En nè eloignant mes liens croiſſent. Behold I lengthen out my Thread of Troubles.

15. A Crown. Unam petit a Domine I expect a Crown of Righteouſneſs.

1. An Aſs loaden with Hay and Oats, nd mumbling a Thiſtle. Avaritia. The icture of Covetouſneſs.

2. A Charriot hurried down a Precipice y two Horſes, and the Charrioteer dri- ng them on. Temeritas. That Man is ie Image of Raſhneſs.

3. A Portcullis. Securitas altera. A uble Security.

4. Love drawing a Nett full of Hearts. vadet nullum. None ſhall eſcape me.

5. A Flint and Steel. Ante ferit quam icat. It ſuffers before it ſhines.

6. Love receiving the Chains of a oman. Sono dure me Chare.

7. A Golden-Fleece hanging by a hain. Pretium non vile Laborum. A eward worthy of my Labour.

8. Two Hearts bound together by Love. nus idem quo inter diverſa. We are but ne Heart tho' in different Breaſts.

9. A burning Charriot. Quo proceres abiere pij. The Way by which the Fathers and Martyrs went to Heaven.

10. Love holding a Heart upon a Pillow. L'Amore tiene il' mio cuore commodamente. My Heart is eaſy.

11. A Bear. Ne moveas. Provoke me not.

12. Love lying aſleep, Le repas me detruit. Sleep injures me.

13. A Net wherein a Fiſh is encloſed, holding a Ring in its Teeth. Invitum fortuna fovet. Fortune comes without expecting it.

14. Love ſhooting many Arrows upon one Breaſtplate. Rien ne reſiſte a l'Amour. None can reſiſt Love.

15. The Waſps that devour a Serpent. Transfundit poſta Venenum. Our Food is Poyſon.

XLIII.

1. A Sun-Dyal. Non in tenebris. I am useless in the Dark.

2. An Ensign. Quo jussa Jovis. Whither God calls.

3. A Fusee flying. Semper Flammæ comes. I carry a Flame with me.

4. A Loadstone that attracts an Iron Key. Hæc Virtus innata mihi. This is my proper Quality.

5. An artificial Fire which Burns in the Water. Dant et contraria Vitam. That which is opposite to my Nature, is my support.

6. An Arrow darting in the Air. Ad Cœlum tendo. My desires are towards Heaven.

7. A Ship wind-bound. Non nisi secundis. I sail not till the Wind proves favourable.

8. A Lyon in an Amphitheatre. Quis audet. Who dares attack me.

9. An Eagle in a Sky of Clouds, and Lightning, and the Sun shining. Post Nubila Phœbus. In Adversity hope for better Times.

10. A Marigold turning towards the Sun. Tot gradus tot gressus. As you move I follow.

11. An Eagle holding Thunder in his Claws. Procul este prophani. Hence all prohane Thoughts.

12. A Lyons Skin. Optima spolia. Even my Remains are Honourable.

13. A Watch Tower. Lux in Tenebris. I'm more conspicuous by Shining in the Dark.

14 A Dog gnawing a Bone. In subsidium. A small Relief.

15. A Diamond upon a Shield. Vel Lumine, vel Robore servo. I have both Strength and Beauty.

1. A Vine running upon the Ground, and its prop broke. Certa mori. I am ſure to Dye.

2. A Tree broke by Thunder. Cede Deo. Reſign your ſelves to God's Will.

3. A Ram butting at a Rock. Ineluctabile Fatum. There is no fighting againſt Deſtiny.

4. A Dog ſcratching at the Grave of his Maſter. Par ſe pulto. He will not forſake him, even in the Grave.

5. A Wood, part of which is cut down. Stat ſua cuique Dies. There is an appointed Time to all Men.

6. An Olive-Tree ſhooting out freſh at the Root. Creſcent illæ creſcetis Amores. My Love revives.

7. A Tree broke down to the Ground which ſhoots out from the Stump. Duri Solatia Caſus. There is Conſolation to be found, even in Adverſity.

8. A Phœnix upon its Pile. Fatis contraria Fata. My Fate is to dye and to riſe again.

9. A Star fallen upon a Tomb. Felix morte ſua. He is happy, even in Death.

10. A Canopy for a Widow Princeſs. Dulces exuviis. My Weeds are valuable.

11. An Eagle carrying Thunder in the Air, and pitching upon a Tree, on which are ſeveral ſmall Birds flying. Pax decet imbelles. Scoundrels are not worth notice.

12. A Heart between a Lilly and ſome Roſes. Decor, Pudor, Candor. Beauty, Chaſtity, and Love.

13. A Dyal. Cui ſolem, ante feram. The Sun is my Darling.

14. A Roſe-Tree charg'd with its Flowers.
Gather Roſes, but avoid the Thorns.

15. A Watch. Chetro ſuor, commoto dento, Smooth without, but hurried within.

XLV.

1. A Flame in the Air. Alta spero. My Hopes are from on high.

2. A Veſſel upon whoſe Maſt is the Golden Fleece. Audentes Fortuna juvat. Fortune favours the Adventrous.

3. A Bundle of Match on Fire. In finem. It burns to the laſt.

4. An Eagle carrying Thunder near the Sun. Uni ſervio. I ſerve but one God.

5. A Porcupine between two Dogs. Fruſtra. You attack me in vain.

6. A Trunk of Lawrel putting forth one freſh ſhoot. A morte ſalus. I ſhoot again by being cut down.

7. A Marygold inclining towards that part of the Earth where the Sun ſet. Sic expecto ut reſurgam. Thus I hope to revive again.

8. An Eagle looking at the Sun. Probat me pro legitimâ. He proves me to be his Offspring.

9. A Hawk faſtned to his Perch. Sibi mihi Libertas. My Liberty is advantageous to others.

10. An Eagle upon a very high Mountain endeavouring to fly. Nihil timendum. What ſhould I fear.

11. A Thermometer. Utinam non deprimar. I hope God will ſend better Times.

12. A Muſket. Altera Parca. 'Tis the fourth Deſtiny.

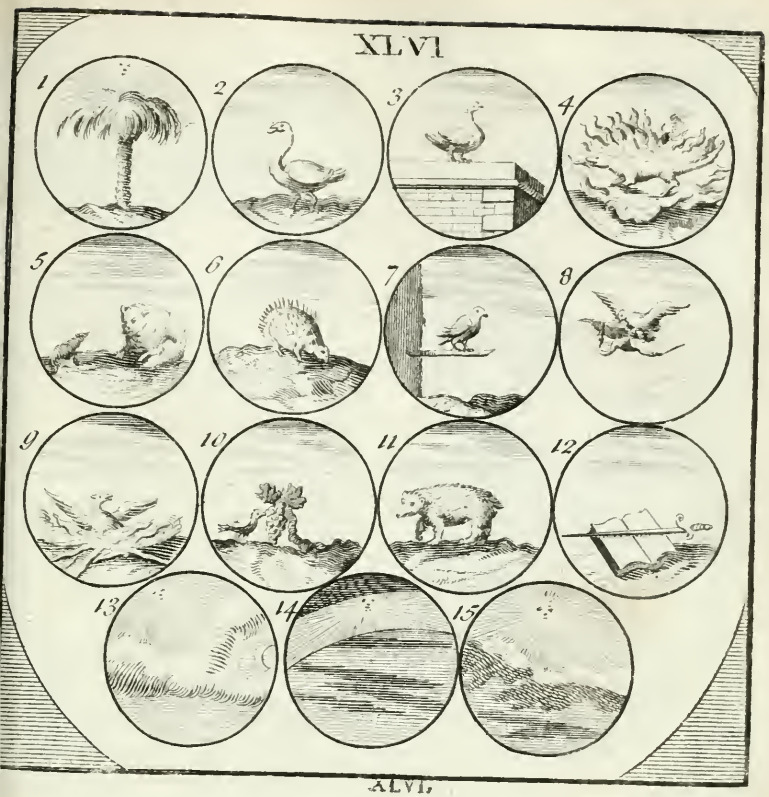
13. A Marſhal's Truncheon, and a Chancellor's Mace. Quis contra hæc duo. What Power can reſiſt theſe.

14. A Fountain iſſuing out at the Foot of a Hill. Æque aſcendum. I riſe in proportion to my Power.

15. A Wood-Pile on Fire. Uram vel Uror. I will either burn others, or burn my ſelf.



XLVI.

1. A Palm-Tree and the Sun over it. Amor omnis in uno. My Love is plac'd on thee alone.

2. A Swan holding a Stone in its Beak. Tacendo impetravi vitam. My ſilence ſaves my Life.

3. A Gooſe upon the top of a Fortreſs. Da mi grido mi Honor. A Watchful Centinel.

4. A Salamander in the Fire. Extinguam et non extinguar. I deſtroy that which deſtroys others.

5. A Cat and a Rat. Diſſimilium infida Societas. The Society of Unequals is unſafe.

6. A Porcupine. Decus in Armis. Safe in Armour.

7. A Faulcon with its Bells. Fama nocebit. The noiſe I make does me a prejudice.

8. A Faulcon which ſeizes a Heron. Alta petens. I aſpire at the largeſt Prey.

9. A Phœnix ſpringing from the Aſhes. Saro qual fui.

10. A Nightingale pecking at a Bunch of Grapes. Hinc dulce melos. This whets my Whiſtle.

11. A Bear. Stimulata ferocior. The more I am urged, the more cruel I am.

12. A Book and a Sword. Hic regit, ille tuetur. The one directs, and the other defends.

13. The Sun and the Moon. Aſpice creſcam. I encreaſe if you look upon me.

14. The Sun in the Zodiack. Nuſquam devius. I am no wanderer.

15. The Sun. Nulla eſt Meta Labori. There is no Bounds to his Labour.

1. Lightning. Orior morior. I die as ſuddenly as I am born.

2. The Moon and Stars. Reſtat tot millibus Una. She alone excels a Thouſand.

3. The Sun. Tranſit benefaciendo. He paſſes his time away in doing Good.

4. A Mother of Pearl Shell ſhut. Opes operit. It hides a Treaſure.

5. A Rainbow. Poſt imbres paritura ſereno. After Rain, I promiſe fair Weather.

6. A Mother of Pearl Shell ſhut. Sua munita Pudore. Her Modeſty is her Security.

7. A Pearl. Nil habet illa Maris. It retains nothing of the Sea.

8. A Pearl in a Shell open. Ex utero Cœlum ſentis. We are ſenſible of the goodneſs of Providence even from our Mothers Womb.

9. A Roſe among Thorns. Amictor terrore Pudor. Modeſty is to be held inviolable.

10. A Swan flying. Aucta fuga forma eſt. She appears more extended and beautiful in her flight.

11. A Pearl. Dos in Pudore. Her Modeſty is a Fortune to her.

12. A Looking-Glaſs. Oſtendit Navos non contrahit. It ſhows Blemiſhes, but makes none.

13. A Pearl in its Shell. Virgo illa Juventa eſt. How beautiful I am at my firſt appearance.

14. A Candle in a Lanthorn. Segura alos ſoplos. I am defended from the Wind.

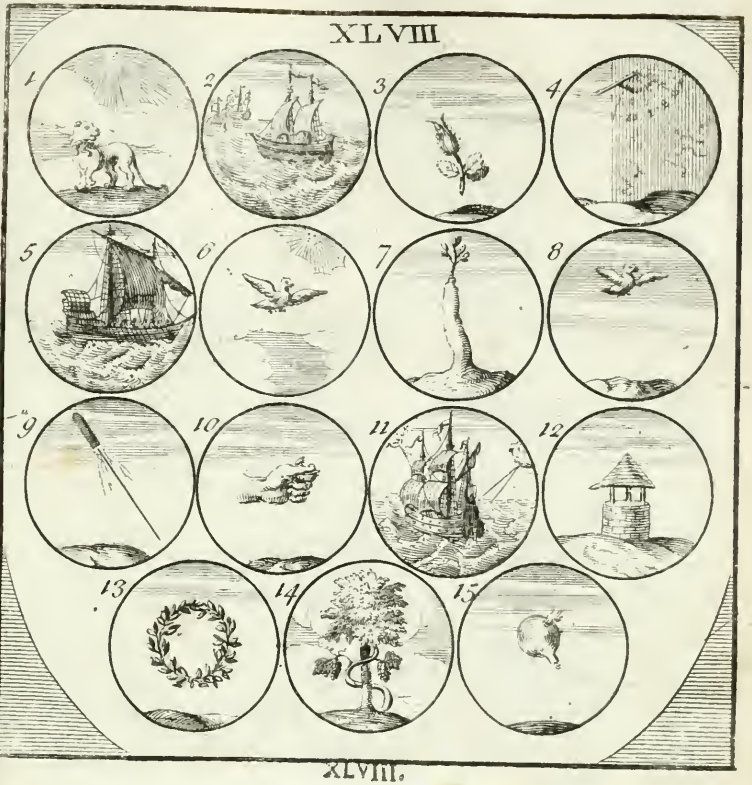
15. A Pearl in the Water. Mature mergi poteſt. It is profitable to dive in the lucky Hour.



XLVIII.

1. A Lyon and the Sun over him. Et ex Unque et ex sole. The Light directs me to my Prey, and my Claws gain it.

2. A Bark that follows a large Vessel at a distance. Sequar et attingam. I shall overtake and joyn her.

3. A Rose-bud close. Suavis a Suave. A sweet Flower produces a sweet smell.

4 A Sun-Dial without the Sun. Cacus sine Baculo. Like a blind Man without a Guide.

5. A Galley with Sailes and Oares. Alarum Remigio. They joyntly assist my Course.

6. An Eagle looking at the Sun. Patrum Virtute. I imitate the Virtues of my Ancestors.

7. A Graft upon a Stock. Fructus in tempore. It will bear in Time.

8. An Eagle keeping its self steady in the Air. Imminet hosti. She hovers ready to descend upon her Prey.

9. A Sky-Rocket in the Air. Gloria ab intus. Its Lustre proceeds from within it self.

10. A Hand close shut holding a Flea. Le guard en est difficil. 'Tis difficult to hold her.

11. A Vessel tost with the Winds. Frustra obstant. In vain the Winds unite their Force against me.

12. An Alembeck. Palesan lardore.

13. A Crown of Laurel. Hinc Labor hinc merces. The Travail is the Recompence.

14. A Tree supporting a Vine. Mas dulcura che altezza.

15. A Granade flying. El fuego que se cubre lalevanta.

XLIX.

1. A Branch of Laurel. Je ne change qu'en mourant. I neither alter nor die.

2. A Marigold weeping. J'attens mon soleil. I attend my Sun.

3. A Hen who covers her Young at the ſight of a Hawk. Non rapet vigili. He gets nothing of the Watchful.

4. A Leavel. Recte. It is right.

5. A Weaſel. Malo mori quam fædari. I had rather die than defile myſelf.

6. A wounded Hart which eats an Herb. Eſto tien eſu remedio y non yo. Be thou a Med'cine for my Malady.

7. A great Fly. Melicfica Piaga.

8. A Pomegranate open. Je port ma valeur avec moy. I carry my Worth about me.

9. A Bough of a Lilly. La douceur m'attire. I am arrayed in Sweetneſs.

10. A Pomegranate. Che que j'ay de meilleur eſt eaché.

11. A Hawk upon the Trunk of a Tree. Talcanta che in canta.

12. An Hour-Glaſs. Ainſi va ma vie. So paſſes on my Life.

13. A Flower called Hearts-Eaſe. Vous la ſcavez ne en parlez pas.

14. A Craw-fiſh going backward. Sic minuetur Amor. So go my Amours.

15. A Lyon couchant. at the preſence of a Cock. Je fais trembler le plus hardy. I make the moſt Hardy tremble.

L.

1. A Pearl. Cœli ſciat major quam Mari. Its commerce is more with the Heavens than with the Sea.

2. Thunder. Nuſquam vehementior alter. There is nothing more furious.

3. A Sun. Todo para todos. It is for you.

4. A Prop that ſupports a Houſe. Impoſitum feret unus Onus. I alone bear the Burthen.

5. A Pearl floating in the Sea in a Storm. Non Fluctus, non Aura nocet. Neither Winds nor Waves can hurt me.

6. The Wind which blows a Fire. Excitat aut juſcitat. It will kindle or extinguiſh it.

7. A Pearl. Lapſu non frangitur ullo. It dreads no Events.

8. A Swan in the Water. Nil purius illo eſt. Nothing is purer than Chaſtity.

9 A Bee. Fatore fugatur. He hates a Stink.

10. A Unicorn. Caſtæ placent. Chaſtity is lovely.

11. A Pearl lying upon a Hill. Influxu è puro Candor. Its Purity vies with the Heavens.

12. A Helmet ſhut. Mas cubrido mas ſeguro. The cloſer the ſurer.

13. The Pole-Star which never ſets. Me veiente ningunt. Nothing is more watchful than a Star.

14. A Bee. Vigilè urget opus. She is an Emblem of Induſtry.

15. A Dog watching a Flock of Sheep. Grex me vigilante quieſcit. The Flock Sleeps while I Watch.

LI.

1. A Dove perching upon a Tree, and its Mate dead at the Foot of it. Je plains ſa mort et ma vie. I mourn for your Death, and my own Life.

2. A heavy Seal. Decoris, Roboris, & Cuſtodiæ.

3. A Laurel-Tree in the Fire. Je ne puis bruiler, et metair.

4. A Heart pierced with one Arrow, and other Arrows about it. Me Sufficit unus. One alone can make me Happy.

5. A Bee-Hive over-turn'd Et tnac, & liquorem.

6. A Cock. When the Cock crows my Love ends.

7. A Shell. Uni patet. He lies open for one alone.

8. The Dog in the Heavens. Ne piu ardente, ne piu fidello.

9. An Arrow inclining to the Pole-Star. Solæ aliis.

10. The Sun. Fulget ubique. He ſhines every where.

11. An Ever-green Tree. Tou jours lemeſme.

12. A Phœnix in a Fire, and no Sun. J' attends mon Soleil. I attend my Sun.

13. A Heart lifted up by Wings. Elles l'importent. It is tranſported.

14. A Tortoiſe. No tarde ſil lega.

15. A Heron carrying a little Flower. Vous les connoiſſes toutes.

LII.

1. Fortune Nil te fine. Nothing without you.

2. A Plant of Succory. My Whiteneſs psoceeds from my Chains.

3. A Fire upon an Altar. Eterno perche puro.

4. A great Flame. Deorſum non ovam.

5. A Sun-ſetting. Urit & eminus. It gives Light tho' afar off.

6. A Pelican and its young ones. Durat cum ſanguine virtus avorum. The Virtue of Aneeſtors runs in the Blood of heir Poſterity.

7. A Serpent cut in two. muſt be united or die.

8. A Heart inflam'd by the Sun thro' Burning-Glaſs. Nothing that is vile or impure ſhall fire ne.

9. Two Turtles billing upon a Tree. Leſs than Two ſignify nothing.

10. Fhe Sun ſhining and a Dog under it. Nothing is more Ardent, nothing more Faithful.

11. A A Column wreathed round. Te ſtante virebo. If you ſtand I flouriſh.

12. A Sun. Nil ſine te floret. Nothing can proſper without you.

13. Love beating upon an Anvil. Opportune. Strike while the Iron's hot.

14. Tears. Je pleure voſtre abſence. I mourn your Abſence.

15. An Æthiopian that adores the Sun. J' adore qui me bruſle. I adore that which burns me.

LIII.

1. An Eagle in a Storm. En Tempeſtad ſu majeſtad. Grandure is diſcoverable in Adverſity.

2. An Eagle ſtanding majeſtically. Fortis a fortè. I derive my Courage from my Anceſtors.

3. A Yoak for Labour. Por las Beſtias ſola mente. 'Tis only for Beaſts.

4. An even Ballance. Sine Pondere gaudet. An even Mind without Oppreſſion to weigh it down is chearful.

5. A Nightingale upon a Branch. Con Libertad mejor ſi canta. I Sing well when I am at liberty.

6. An Eagle holding a Crown in his Tallons. Meruit non rapuit. By Right, not by Uſurpation.

7. A Sky-Rocket flying. Supereſt dum vita movetur. It flies high while Life continues.

8. A dead Tree broke with the Wind. De ſus anos ſus Danos. It ſuffers by reaſon of its Age.

9. A Civet Cat. Antes muerta que cautiva.

10. An Eagle hovering in the Air over its young ones. In ſuis non fallitur. It knows its own.

11. A Branch of a Roſe-Tree with one Roſe. Epiace è punge. My Smell is pleaſant, but my Thorns ſting.

12. A new Cord ty'd in a Lovers Knot. Nec Enſe nec Arte. Neither Inſinuation nor Threatnings ſhall undo it.

13. A Crown of Laurel faſten'd with a Nail. Fortunam non timet. 'Tis above Danger.

14. A Laurel-Tree. Non ſine Amaritudine colligitur. It is not raiſed without Difficulty.

15. A Muſhroom. Gio vane, è matura. I reſemble an Upſtart.

LIV.

1. A Piece of Flambeau lighted. Etiam moriendo coruſcat. I ſhine in Death.

2. A Royal Hat. Eſtates & Hiemes contra. A Safeguard againſt all Weathers.

3. A Rhinoceros. Dat Virtus quod Forma negat. Virtue ſupplies the place of Beauty.

4. A Granade fired. Neſcit vis iſta teneri. It diſdains Reſtraint.

5. A Head of a Willow-Tree. Per vulnera creſcit. It is en'arged by its Wounds.

6. A Yoak. Indomitos Domat. It conquers the Unmanagable.

7. A Spaniel holding a Heron. Predam de Predone facit. He ſpoils the Spoiler.

8. A Comet. Nuſquam viſus impune. It portends Miſchief.

9. A Faulcon. Mares hæc Fœmina vincit. The Grey Mare is the better Horſe.

10. A Beehive. Domum mucrone tuetur. A ſafe Gariſon defended by Arms.

11. A Phœnix. Invito Funere vivit. It ſurvives in ſpite of Death.

12. A Buckler. Venientia Tela repellit. It repels the Weapon.

13. A young Lemon-Tree. Brevis quam grandia preſtat. Little Sprigs produce large Fruit.

14. A Hedgehog. Vires Agminis unus habet. He is himſelf an Army.

15. A Hedgehog. Cominus & eminus. Eaſy to be Caught but hard to find.

LV.

1. A Faulcon ſtriking at a Heron, which turns upon him again. Exitus in Dubio eſt. The Iſſue of the Combat is doubtful.

2. A Vulture upon a Bough watching the little Birds. Cupide expecto. I wait impatiently.

3. A Pelican bleeding for her young ones. Pro Grege. I bleed for my Offſpring.

4. A Stork pecking upon a Snake. Soli Patriæ. I profit my Country while I pleaſe my Pallat

5. A Starling eating Hemlock. Aliis venenum. One Man's Meat is another Man's Poiſon.

6. A Bird of Paradiſe that has no Feet and is always flying. Terræ commercia veſcit. It is unacquainted with the Earth.

7. A Paroquet in a Cage. Nil ex me.

8. A Turkey-Cock ſpreading his Tail. Rabie tumeſcit. He ſwells with Rage.

9. A Cock crowing. Cura vigil. Care is watchful.

10. A Chicken feeding. Pinqueſcit dum eruit. He fattens by ſearching for his Food.

11. A Patridge which hides its Head. Fallit opinio. There is no truſting to appearance.

12. A Hen which defends her Brood. Dulce & decorum eſt. It is good and honeſt to guard ones young.

13. A Duck diving under Water. Merſus ut emergam. I dive for my living.

14. A Magpie carrying a Stick to build its Neſt in a Tree. Hoc mihi uſui eſt. This is uſeful.

15. A Dove bearing an Olive-Branch in his Bill. Divinæ nuncia Pacis. The Meſſenger of Divine Peace.

LVI.

1. A Rose gathered. Et decerpta servat odorem. Tho' it is gathered it preserves its Smell.

2. A Rose-Bud. Menos abierta, mas hermosa. The less it's blown the sweeter it smells.

3. A Faulcon that holds a Patridge. Non sibi sed Domino. It is Meat for your Master.

4. A Bee. Aris ægrisque loboro. I toil for Gods and Men, for Offerings and for Physick.

5. A River. Nomen sibi fecit eundo. It grows famous by its Course.

6. A Ship tost in a Storm. Solus quæ regit me spiritus. I am govern'd by the Winds.

7. A Watch. De mi regle mi vala. I am the more valuable the truer I go.

7. A Looking-glass. Pormi limpiezza me quierem. I am admired for my Neatness.

9. A tatter'd Ensign. E lacerò ogni virtu spira. The more Rags the more Honour.

10. A great Pearl in its Shell. Decus allatura Coronæ. 'Tis to be an Ornament for a Crown.

11. The Sun covered with a Cloud, but shooting out its Rays from behind it. E quanti ne cela. It cannot well be concealed.

12. Lightning breaking out of a Cloud. De carcere clarior. exit. Virtue shines brightest in Adversity.

13. A Steel and Flint. Clarit ab ictu. Glory breaks out from Affliction.

14. A Burning-glass. Cælicus ardet. It is inflam'd by celestial Fire.

15. A Faulcon over a Heron that turns upon it. Nil virtus generosa timet. True Courage fears nothing.

LVII.

1. A Crown Imperial. Modeſta Juventus, Honeſta Senectus. Baſhful in Youth, and Graceful in Age.

2. A Marigold Flower. Solem expecto. I wait my Sun.

3. A Root of Violet Flowers. Humilibus Gratiam. There are Charms in Humility.

4. A Squirrel chewing a Husk of Pulse. Latet abdita. It lies conceal'd.

5. A Caſtor that bites off its Teſticles. Modo vita ſuperſit. Any thing to ſave Life.

6. A Mole in the Earth. Atris obſcura latebris. It lies hid in Obſcurity

7. A Beaver gnawing a Tree near the Water. Perſeverando. By Perſeverance.

8. A Crocodile upon the edge of Nile, Tempore & Loco. I wait my Opportunity.

9. An Eagle flying and holding in one Claw a Thunderbolt, and in the other a Branch of Olives. Unicuique. War and Peace divide the World.

10. An Eagle flying. Et profundiſſimæ quæque. Nothing can avoid its ſharp ſight.

11. An Eagle upon the Head of a Stag. Inſtanti Victoria.

12. A Serpent quitting his Skin. Vetuſtiata relicta. I renew my Age.

13. An Oſtritch running with its Wings extended Pretervehor omnes. I am the ſwifteſt of Fowls

14. An Eagle in the Air full of Thunder Per Tela per Ignes. I fear not Fire nor Weapons.

15. An Eagle. Non Cantu, ſed Actu. I am not admired for my Voice, but my Actions.

LVIII.

1. A Pine Tree full of Fruit. Semper Matura. Alway Ripe.

2. Two Anchors Salterwise. In magnis non sufficit una. One is not sufficient in a great Tempest.

3. A Dog's Collar full of Spikes. Sans Blame. This is no Badge of Shame but Security.

4. Ariadne's Crown. Pignus Amoris. The Reward of Love.

5. A Goldsmith's Crucible upon a Fire. Adversa probant. We are try'd by Afflictions.

6. A Bird fastned to the Trunk of a Tree. Non Volo quando volo. I cannot fly when I please.

7. A Helmet cover'd with Spiders Webs. Simbolum Pacis. An Emblem of Peace.

8. A Ring held by two Hands: Quo jurantar lo cosa sea. 'Tis shameful to forfeit our Fidelity.

9. A Temple Virtuti & Honori. 'Tis dedicated to Virtue and Honour.

10. A Tortoise. Domus fidissima Custos. A constant Housekeeper

11. An Oak kill'd with Ivy. Arida tecum. Your Life is my Death.

12. A Hare. In solo Cursu audax. Her Courage consists in her Flight.

13. A Goose upon a Castle. Hostis adest. The Enemy is at hand.

14. A Dog running along a Path-way: Herum quero. I seek my Master.

15. A Stork devouring a Snake. Confecere est animus. I have a mind to destroy.

LIX.

1. A Marigold with the Sun over it. Non inferiora ſecutus. I purſue not Trifles.

2. A Crown of Laurel. Virtutis Merces. This is your Reward if you do well.

3. A Noſegay of Roſes. Aliter cœleſtia durant. Heavenly Bleſſings are of longer continuance.

4. A Match lighted. Juſqu'a la fin I hold out to the End.

5. Aaron's Rod in Bloſſom. Inſperata floruit. It bloſſoms unexpectedly.

6. A Roſe-Tree in Flower and Garlick near it. Per oppoſita. Its Neighbourhood ſets off my Odour.

7. A Wall overgrown with Ivy. Si vivit & vivam. If this ſtands I flouriſh.

8. A Parterre of Flowers, and the Rain falling upon it. Cœli benedictio ditat. The Bleſſing of Heaven enriches me.

9. A Reed ſhaken with the Wind. Sic fors mea. So Fate will have it.

10. A Roſe full blown. Caduca Voluptas. Beauty is fading.

11. An Ear of Wheat lying upon the Ground. Sic vitam invenet. Thus it will find Life.

12. A Branch of Coral taken out of the Water. Mollis fuit herba ſub undis. It was a tender Plant under Water.

13. Bees flying in a Parterre of Flowers. Ut proſi. Hence we gather our Sweets.

14. A Nettle. Leviter ſi tangis adurit. The more gently I am handled I ſting the more.

15. An Anemony. Brevis eſt uſus. The Value of it is tranſitory.

LX.

1. A Sun-flower drooping. Sino che torni. Till the Sun returns.

2. A Compass striking out a Circle. Alpha & Omega. It has no End.

3. A Sun-Dial Inutile che torni. Useless without the Sun.

4. A Rose with its Stalk in a Vessel of Water. Vivo equidem. I live notwithstanding.

5. A Watch. Interpres fidus solis. A faithful Interpreter of the Sun.

6. A Pyramid charged with a Trophy of Arms. Evexit ad Æthera Virtus. Virtue raises us up to Heaven.

7. Ivy running along a Tree that lies dead upon the Earth. Vivendo vixi mea fata. In living I have surmounted my Destiny.

8. A Hind pursued, and seeing a Hart kill'd by an Arrow. Duras uterque labor.

9. Land plowed to be sowed with Corn. Morte tuâ vivis. Your Death enlivens you.

10. Several Flowers in a Parterre blown down by the Wind. Sic pulchriora pereunt. The more beautiful and tender the more subject to Injury.

11. A Vine laden with Fruit, and resting upon a dead Elm. Mens immota manet. I forsake you not even in Death.

12. Mount Ætna vomiting out Smoak and Flames. Veteris vestigia flammæ. It shows its latent Fire.

13. A Tomb cover'd with Flowers and Arms. Quisquis Honos tumuli. 'Tis all the Honour the Dead can receive.

14. Two Hands, the one holding a Flint the other a Steel. Vera Fides & verus Amor. An Emblem of true Faith and Love.

15. A Turtle with her Young upon a dry Branch, viewing her dead Mate. Nunc scio quid sit Amor. Now I know what Love is.

LXI.

1. An Arrow turning to the Pole-Star. I ſeek but one.

2. A Twin-Fruit. None can ſeparate us.

3. A Heart fired by the Sun-beams thro' a Burning-glaſs. My Paſſion is Celeſtial

4. A Sun over a burning Heart. J'éleve ou je conſomme. I elevate what I conſume.

5. A Pelican feeding its young ones. In morte vita. My Death is their Life.

6. Two Palm-Trees joining a-croſs a River. Un meme penchant nous unit. By our inclining towards each other we are united.

7. A Globe upon the Earth. Terrena Sperne. Deſpiſe earthly Things.

8. Two burning Hearts united. De nos deux cœurs amour n'en a fait qu'un. Of our two Hearts Love makes but one.

9. A Heliotrope without the Sun. Non puo ch' ipiorno non giri.

10. A Heart inflamed between two Flowers. Decor Candor & Amor. Beauty, Purity and Love.

11. A Bird of Paradiſe. Altiora peto. I ſeek Heavenly Things.

12. A Looking-glaſs. Dico vere. I tell Truth.

13. A Hand holding a Rock. Fas ſoluere nihil

14. A Weather-Cock. Si vous changez je changray. Is you change I change.

15. A Pine-Apple. Al fuoco ſol ſirend.

LXII.

1. An Arrow. Et Penna & Ferro. I have Wings to purſue, and a Point to wound.

2. A Leech. Mordendo Sanati. We are healed by its Bloodſucking.

3. A Nightingale ſinging. De mi amor mi canto. My Love makes me ſing.

4. A Diamond cut. Minias dum formas. It is leſſened by being brought into Shape.

5. The Sun eclipſed. Palleſco non extinguar. My Light is diminiſhed but not extinguiſhed.

6. A Flambeau lighted. Quo flamma levior, eo Vita brevior. The greater my Blaze the ſhorter will be my Life.

7. A Sky-Rocket in the Air throwing out Stars. Lucem in curſu celaverat. He conceal'd his Light in his Courſe.

8. A Silkworm in its Caſe. Indutum Labor illuſtrat. To be cloathed with our own Labour is ornamental.

9. A New-Moon. Latuit, non deficit Orbi. Conceal'd, but not loſt to the World.

10. A Column thrown down. Majorem oſtendit Caſus. It ſeems greater by its Fall.

11. The Sun ſhining among Clouds. Major ab adverſis. Vertue appears more bright by Adverſity.

12. A Book ſhut. Aperi & lege. Open and read.

13. A Harrow. Vertit & equat. It levels what it turns up.

14. A Pyramid in the middle of the Sea. Undique fruſtra. All Efforts againſt me are in vain.

15. A Dog ſitting tamely. Quietum nemo impune laceſſet. None ſhall diſturb his Reſt unpuniſh'd.

93-B8174